"Double double, toil and trouble;
Fire burn, and Cauldron bubble."
—Shakespeare
"Memoria est thesaurus omnium rerum et custos."
"Memory is the treasury and guardian of all things."

What jeweled thoughts our memory possesses! How beautifully it paints anew the scenes of yesterday; and chains to our immediate selves the episodes of blissful youth, when the brightness obliterates the darkness, making the road that we have traversed a paradise and an ardent field for future endeavor. God be thanked that it is so—that the ever lengthening chain of memory has only pleasant links, and that bitterness and sorrow of today are smiled at on the morrow. But memory is a child of mother—mind, and a very delicate child it is; when nurtured it reflects, and when neglected it rebels. Therefore, dear friend, with this truism in mind we have compiled this volume. And may it furnish food for memory, and paint anew those fading, priceless pictures, and be to you a treasure house wherein things are most precious and desirable when reviewed.

"It is a brief period of life granted us by nature, and the memory of a well-spent life should never die."
IN MEMORIAM

Our Gracious Fathers

Rest on, embalmed and sainted dead,
Dear as the life ye gave,
No impious footsteps here shall tread
The herbage of your grave

Nor shall your goodness be forgot
While Virtue her record keeps,
Or Truth points the hallowed spot
Where Love proudly sleeps.
IN MEMORIAM

Dean William Edmund Farrar

He was a scholar, and a ripe and good one;
Exceeding wise, fair, and persuading.

"His life was gentle, and the elements so mixed in him that Nature might stand up and say to all the world, This was a man."
DEDICATION

To

Dr. Rufus Carrilton Harris

Faithful friend and advisor, who has worked earnestly and effectively for a Greater Mercer, and whose gracious services through tireless days of constructive work have made possible the status of our Law School. To him, with the most enthusiastic and most sincere esteem, we do respectfully dedicate the Sixteenth Volume of the CAULDRON

The College of Liberal Arts

The College of Liberal Arts is designed to give pupils who have the intellectual interest, financial resources, and mental ability, the opportunity to secure the wider general training that is necessary to the more abundant social and professional leadership, which has always been held by college trained men.

The school offers a variety of courses in the following subjects or departments: Astronomy, Biology, Chemistry, Christianity, Drafting, Economics, Education, English, French, German, Greek, History, Journalism, Latin, Mathematics, Philosophy, Physics, Political Science, Psychology, Public Speaking, Sociology, and Spanish. For the student who expects to become a lawyer, a physician, a teacher, a writer, a preacher, a statesman, or a business man or a man of affairs, it supplies not only the best foundation for a successful later professional career, but furnishes most easily the means by which he may become a happy and influential member of society, and equips him with the material and resources with which he may make life a source of unending satisfaction to himself.

Students contemplating the earliest possible entrance upon professional courses, may remain in the College of Arts for two years, securing the prescribed pre-professional training. This affords a minimum of general culture. Those who desire a somewhat broader preparation for their life career may take three years of work in the College of Arts and enter the professional school. The first year of approved professional work may be counted as the student's fourth year toward a bachelor's degree.

Usually it is for the best interests of the student, whenever he can possibly do so, to complete the full four years Liberal Arts course before entering upon his professional preparation.
The Theological Seminary

The Theological Seminary was one of the original constituent departments of Mercer University when the institution was founded in 1833. To establish "A School of the Prophets" was the fundamental idea in the minds of those who contributed toward the establishment of the Baptist institution at Penfield, Georgia. According to this well established fact, therefore, our theological department ranks with the very oldest of the seminaries of this country.

In the year 1919 the Theological Seminary was re-established with the introduction of several branches of study which had been committed to the one theological institution of Southern Baptists, the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, and with the bringing in of additional members of the faculty who should give their full teaching time to this department. Dr. C. L. McGinty was elected to the position of dean of the new school and courses in Systematic Theology, Hebrew and Church History were established.

From year to year the department has grown in point of students enrolled, courses offered, and faculty secured, until at present the Seminary represents a distinct school in the University with a faculty of 12 members, and an enrollment of 175, and the offering of all the degrees which may be pursued in our seminaries in the East as well as in the South.

The distinctive feature of the Theological Seminary of Mercer is the possibility of securing classical and theological training on the same campus. Regular students pursue the A.B. degree course, making their elections from the list of theological subjects, and are thereby enabled to complete a full year of seminary work during the course of the four years pursued for this degree. Graduate work leading to the M.A. and B.D. degrees is also offered. The Th.B. degree is also offered. The Th.B. is likewise a combination course, offering the students the privilege of carrying college and theological work at the same time. Other strictly theological degrees are offered the ministerial student who desires to give his full time to theological training. The combination degrees have proved very popular, thus justifying the fundamental idea of the seminary.
The Law School

Although the Mercer University Law School has consistently ranked among the best in the South, it was reorganized in the fall of 1922 in response to a general demand that the university should provide opportunities and facilities for legal training equal to the best afforded elsewhere. It is an integral part of Mercer University. Its aim is to inculcate a sound knowledge of the common law and equity, of English and American modifications in both substantive and adjective law, of constitutional law and federal procedure, and of the statutes, decisions, and practice of the state of Georgia. Since its reorganization the school is offering a standard three-year course which comes up to the requirements set by the Association of American Law Schools, of which this school has been a member since 1923. Membership therein indicates that the school is recognized throughout the country. Credit for work done here is generally recognized on the same basis as that done in other schools of the Association. The school also has a Class A rating by the American Bar Association. These two associations are the two great standardizing agencies of the United States; membership in the former and Class A rating in the latter, showing the highest degree of excellence recognized.

The Law School owns one of the largest and best law libraries in the State. It has on its shelves the reports of all the most important cases ever decided in the courts of the United States and England. It also has the statute law, both State and Federal, all the best textbooks, digests, encyclopedias, reference works, and the leading legal periodicals of America.

The Law School, except the courses given by special part-time professors who are active practitioners chosen for their special fitness for their subjects, is conducted by professors who give their whole time and attention to university work. It is certain that the best results can be obtained in no other way.

JAMES W. BUTLER, M.A., LL.B., B.S. in E.E.
"Jim"
Quitman, Miss.
Shriners; American Legion; Veterans of Foreign Wars; Delta Theta Phi; "La Societe Der 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux"; Ensign U. S. Navy during the World War.
Jim's great ambition is to help the fellow that is down. During the World War and after he made his conduct accord with this admirable ambition. He is a native of Mississippi, but a Georgian by adoption. Before entering Mercer he attended Mississippi A. & M. College where he took the degree of B.S. in E.E. Later he did special work at the Chattanooga College of Law and the Washington Law School, Washington, D. C.

ROY LEE HURST, A.B., M.A.
"R. L."
Chattanooga, Tenn.
Phi Theta (Local); Glee Club, manager, '22, '23, '24, '25; Comedian on Glee Club; Mason; Knight Templar; American Legion, and the D.A.V. of the WOW.
We are indeed indebted to the state of Tennessee for the many noble sons she has sent to Mercer. The one in whom we are particularly interested at present is Roy L. Hurst—a minister, a business promoter, and a genuine scholar.
Roy's tremendous experience before entering Mercer clothed him with all the qualifications of a man of determination. He is one of the few students who was wounded in battle during the World War. Upon being discharged from service Roy chose Mercer as his future Alma Mater. And here he has made for himself a wonderful record. Besides his intense interest in Extra Curriculum activities he exhibited enough interest in his scholastic work to attain Fifth Honor upon receiving his A.B. degree.

ROBERT F. RICKETSON, A.B., M.A.
"Bobby"
Macon, Ga.
Ministerial Association; Volunteer Band; Ciceronian Literary Society; Oratorical "13."
Too much credit cannot be given a student like Bobby Ricketson. As a scholar he has stood foremost in his class work; and as an instructor he has made his mark. He is one of the very few students who was able to serve as an assistant in Greek while working for his A.B. degree. In addition to his persistent work as a student and assistant professor he participated in all phases of college life, especially in literary lines such as literary societies. In this field he demonstrated his forensic powers with such success that we cannot help but believe that some day he will be one of the country's most widely known speakers.

WILLIAM BAILEY UNDERWOOD, A.B., M.A.
"Bill"
Mystic, Ga.
Ministerial Association; Ciceronian Literary Society.
Here we have another son of Brewton-Parker Institute, a school that has furnished us with our most praiseworthy students. Indeed we find just such a student in Bill Underwood. He brought with him from Brewton-Parker an enviable record as a champion debater and an apt student. He has truly lived up to this record since entering Mercer. With his experience as a speaker and his wonderful personality he is bound to make for some church a valuable pastor.

CLASS POEM

Who passes by this way?
Ye who have walked 'neath spreading trees
While grasses nodded in the breeze,
Shall leave this ancient shrine today.

Life's secrets you've discovered now
The mysteries of ages old
Are yours to have and ever hold
A laurel of learning on your brow:

Cherish these secrets, Mercer men,
That reveal to man his soul
And guide to the life a goal;
Keep these in faith to the end.

GEORGE WALTER ADAMS, A.B.

Weston, Georgia

So "Monk" works without much-a-do but delivers the goods. What more can one ask? He hails as you see from Weston, Ga., where he made an enviable record in athletics and debating during his high school course. With persistence he has gone through his college work and leaves an excellent record as evidence of the fact. Fortunate is the city where he goes to realize his ambition—a success in life and a man worth while." for we believe that whatever a man strives diligently and earnestly for shall be his.

"The determination to succeed is the first step toward success.''

KYLE TERRY ALFRIEND, JR., A.B.

"K. T."

Forsyth, Georgia

An irresistible personality is the valued possession of this man of ours. Kyle came to us from G. M. C., and since his matriculation at Mercer he has continued even in a greater measure to win honors in college activities both in and outside the class room. Athletics, music, and publications have all shared in his interests. Nor has he neglected his courses. Best of all, these things have been done well.

We watch his future with eagerness and prophesy great things for his after-college career. "Smile and the world smiles with you."

TED ASHBY, A.B.

"Ted"

Rome, Georgia

Phi Delta Literary; Ministerial Association.

Scarcely do we find a man like Ted. And an honest man he is in every sense of the word. Reserved, quiet, unassuming, he has gone about his work with a determination rarely seen among students. All the more credit to him for having made his own way through college. Now, he says that he proposes to spend his life in helping others. We believe there is no worthier ambition than his. May all his efforts be crowned with greatest success. "Perseverance is the price of success.''

JACK BATE, A.B.
"Jack"
Barnesville, Georgia

Phi Delta Theta; Freshman Football '24, '25, '26; "M" Club.
If you will enumerate a few of the characteristics which have won for Jack his place at Mercer, you will find that he is alert, modest, loyal, and courteous. He has been a faithful and valuable member of the football team since his freshman days, and has contributed greatly to Mercer's advancing athletic program.
"He only is a well made man who has a good determination."

LOUIS STANFORD BAUGH, A.B.
"Luke"
Waverly Hall, Georgia

Phi Delta Lit.; Ministerial Association.
There is no more gentle nor more kindly spirit on the campus than Luke Baugh. One could hardly conceive of his being ruffled or angry.
Serene, calm, unassuming, Luke is entitled to be placed with those men who stabilize human existence and make this old world a fit place in which to live.
"Honesty, self-possession, determination, kindness and confidence are the fundamental factors for an honorable success."

FORREST GLENN BERRYMAN, A.B.
"Sleepy"
Royston, Georgia

Ciceronian Lit.
Although his name does not appear on the lists of the several organizations on the campus, he is here all the same. He may be seen in reality hovering over some acute radio problem. We believe his future is assured when it comes to radio engineering.
Glenn is always quiet and attends to his own business. Upon approaching him he greets you with a great big smile that makes you feel good. He holds a peculiar kind of affection for us which will not be soon forgotten.
"Knowledge is the only fountain of the love and the principles of human liberty."

Thirty-two
CLAUDE KIVETT BOROUGHS, A.B.

"Boroughs"
Sycamore, Georgia

Phi Delta Lit.: Over Seas Club.

Claude is one of the few boys in school now who answered the call of the colors during the World War. As a fighter for Uncle Sam, he won glory for himself; as a teacher before coming to Mercer, he won the love and confidence of the communities in which he labored; and as a student, he has won the respect and admiration of his fellows. We instinctively honor a man like Claude Boroughs.

"Of all human things there is nothing more full of honor or better than to deserve well of one's country."

ROBERT P. BIVINS, A.B.

"Bob"
Macon, Georgia

Kappa Alpha; Phi Delta Lit.; Tennis Club; Tennis Team '25, '26; Champion Tennis Player '25; Member of Championship Team in Frat. Basketball '25.

Dry wit and latent mental capacity are his; he has only to summon them. We don't know how "Bob" strokes his teachers, but he certainly makes miserable the lives of tennis balls with which he enjoys to contest. In addition to his winning the doubles championship in '24, he was runner-up in the singles, being defeated by one of Georgia's stellar tennis players, Dan Merritt. And to cap the climax he won singles championship in '25.

"My books are always at leisure for me, they are never engaged."

GUY PRICE BOWEN, A.B., B.S.E.

"Pokie"
Clemont, Georgia

Alpha Omega (Divinity); Phi Delta Lit.; Alternate Inter-Collegiate Debater '23-'24, '24-'25; Class Football, '23-'24, '24-'25; Glee Club '25-'26; Pres. Oratorical "13", '25-'26; Spanish Club; Sec. Ministerial Association; Inter-Collegiate Debater '25-'26.

As an all-round fellow, student and friend, "Pokie" is the best that can be had. We feel, however, that a certain young lady is responsible for a very great injustice done to him during a recent summer school when she uttered a statement which is responsible for the nickname which he now bears.

Somehow, we have never thought of him as "the slowest man on the campus" and especially when we look at the above list of college honors which he has earned for himself. We try to believe, however, that maybe this young lady didn't mean it just "that way."

All "Pokie" asks is a chance. The demonstrations of his ability speak for themselves.

"When beauty fires the blood, how love exalts the mind."

ALDEN SHIRLEY BRADLEY, A.B., LL.B.

“John Alden”

Swainsboro, Georgia

A social light, and behold his ray doth shine far and wide. But that is not all. Versatile, congenial, unobtrusive and amiable—that’s Alden.

There is something refreshing, original, and delightful about him that makes him an excellent personal friend. He is philosophical and thoughtful, and despite his pressing work, finds time to develop those lasting friendships that will be worth while in later years.

“Never let your lessons interfere with your college education.”

HERBERT BRADSHAW, A.B., LL.B.

“Brad”

Fitzgerald, Georgia

Phi Theta (Local): Delta Phi (Legal): Ciceronian Vice-Pres. ’22-’23; Pres. Ciceronian ’23-’24; Masonic Club: Shriner: Vice-Pres. First Year Law Class ’25; Vice-Pres. Y. M. C. Junior Law Class ’26; Round Table; Student Tribunal ’25-’26; Associate Judge Student Tribunal ’25-’26; Pres. of Presidents’ Club ’26; Debating Council ’25-’26; Cauldron Staff ’26.

Little needs to be said concerning this real Mercerian. A love for all that is high and worthy constitutes no small part of this man. He does his work with eagerness, and the results thereof are shown in glowing terms by the college honors and achievements which he has won for himself. Application and lots of it has been his slogan. The results of such are inevitable.

We are proud of him and expect to hear greater things from him in his chosen field of law. Perseverance and intellectuality will mean success for him.

“Consistency, thou art a jewel.”

ROBERT P. BREWSTER, B.S.C.

“Bob”

Cedartown, Georgia

Kappa Alpha; Phi Delta Lit.; Pan-Hellenic Council ’24-’25; Glee Club ’24, ’25, ’26; Glee Club Quartet ’26; Interlocutor ’26; Voted Best Looking Man ’25.

Lo, the cynosure of feminine eyes. We wonder if the professors are subject to the same spells. But this innate comeliness is even surpassed in attractiveness by his acquired qualities—a winsome manner and a sterling character. He is no longer a fickle youth, for he is a seasoned man. “When he became a man, he put away childish things.”

“I have gained my experience.”

Thirty-four
CLAYTON HARRIS BUCHANAN, B.S.C.

"Buck"
Dalton, Georgia

Pi Kappa Phi.

"Buck" is collegiate. He is the summation of all that is suggested by the term "College Boy." College atmosphere is epitomized in his manner. He is quiet, amiable, and of an unusual degree of poise. He appears to take his work as a matter of fact to be weighed, considered, and executed; and apparent ease seems to characterize his successful efforts. If he can as easily and as successfully respond to life, we covet his facilities of performance.

"His own is beautiful to each."

WILLIAM A. BUGG, B.S.C.

"Billie"
Columbus, Georgia

Pi Kappa Phi; Phi Delta Lit.; De Molay; Spanish Club; Tennis Club '22, '23.

We present here a man who practices rather than preaches. He says little but does much. We have no information as to his future plans but we'll wager a big bet that he has something up his sleeve. He has courage in formulating his plans: he understands the meaning of things but he also has an invincible shyness when it comes to making his plans and purposes known.

A hard worker, an amiable fellow and a worthy son of Mercer.

"Be not shaken from thy purpose, either by the plaudits of the mob, or the abuse of the envious."

"A silent countenance often expresses words and sounds."

ERNEST W. BURCH, B.S.C.

"Burch"
Eastman, Georgia

Spanish Club; Eastman Club.

"To be an honorable and successful business man" is what Burch tells us is his ambition in life and it is toward the realization of this ideal that all of his efforts have been spent since he came to Mercer. Obstacles have not impeded his progress. Rarely seen on the campus, save in the library or going to and from classes, he has been consistently on the job. Some day we expect to hear from this man, little in stature but great in spirit and purpose. May Dame Fortune smile on all your efforts in the attainment of your ideals and plans.

"'Tis no sin for man to labor in his vocation."

Thirty-five
CLYDE BRYAN CARSON, A.B.

"Dick"

Reynolds, Georgia

Phi Delta Theta; Freshman Football '22; Varsity Football '23-'24-'25; Captain Football Team '25; Baseball '22-'23-'24-'25; "M" Club '23-'24-'25.

"Dick" is another one of our quiet fellows. He believes in expressing his thoughts in actions instead of words. Many are the times when he has been a defender of the "Orange and the Black." Mercer looks with pride upon such a man as Clyde Carson, an upright, staid man who captained our 1925 football team to a 21 to 6 victory over Oglethorpe.

We believe that "Silent Dick" is going to "buck the line of life" as he has the football line, and that he will emerge victorious from every conflict.

"If worry were the only cause of death, then would I live forever."

HERBERT CAUDILL, A.B.

"Herbert"

Tifton, Georgia

Ciceronian Literary; Winner of Greek Medal '24; Ministerial Association. Perseverance will win for any man and it is bound to win for Herbert. Since his matriculation at Mercer he has constantly sought for knowledge, not waiting for it to present itself to him but performing his duties scholastically and untiringly. To the winner of the Greek Medal should be given great credit.

With an ambition like Herbert's—"to be of service as a Baptist preacher," nothing can prevent him from reaching that goal. We are for you Herbert, every step of the way.

"Tis perseverance that prevails."

JOHN WESLEY CLARK, A.B.

"Johnnie"

Gay, Georgia

Ministerial Association; Phi Delta Lit.; Pres. Mercer Evangelistic Club '24; Class Football '24 and '26; Y. M. C. A. Before entering Mercer, Johnnie chose his career, the greatest of callings—that of preaching the Gospel. Every day finds him more in earnest about his calling and ere life is done we are sure that he will have registered more than his allotted number of noble deeds.

Luck to you Johnnie! With your determination you can never fall short of your high calling.

"Knowledge and time should not be used much until they are seasoned."

Thirty-six
The study of law is nobody's play job. Here we have a man who has already realized this fact and is going about this work with a tenacity which bespeaks nothing less than success for him in the attainment of his ambition as a lawyer and statesman.

We have heard him argue in the society hall. Yes, he's a lady's man too, and that calls for more argument. He's equal to the job, however, and "business is business," he says.

Speak up "C. C." and express yourself. We are expecting results from you in the game of life.

"Clemency alone makes us equal with the gods."

RICHARD ARCHIBALD CHAPPELL, A.B.

"Archie"

Jeffersonville, Georgia.

Gamma Alpha (Local): Phi Delta Lit.: Oratorical "13": Inter-Collegiate Debater '25-'26.

"Archie" brought from Locust Grove, his prep school, a host of honors in forensics. There is no wonder that he was such a worthy representative of his Alma Mater on the platform.

After breaking his career at Mercer by attending the University of Georgia for one year, "Archie" returned to Mercer realizing that it was the place for him. He is now pursuing the course for a law degree. With his analytical mind, forceful expression, pleasing appearance and confidential attitude he is bound to reach the summit of the legal profession.

"The load becomes light which is cheerfully borne."

HENRY LAMAR CHEELY, A.B.

"Lamar"

James, Georgia

Sigma Alpha Epsilon: Phi Delta Lit.: Spanish Club.

Always quiet and unconcerned is the personality of Lamar. Unconcerned about his work? No, we cannot make such a statement. A glance at the fact that he holds membership in the Spanish Club (honorary) shows that he attends to his school work with greatest diligence.

Since Lamar doesn't live on the campus, he is seldom seen except at class periods. He is always there, however, with the desired information. "The one most heard is not the one most liked," he seems to think. And we all like him.

"He who can take advice is sometimes superior to him who can give it."

Thirty-seven
WILLIAM FRANK COBB, A.B.

"Ty"
Temple, Georgia
Pi Kappa Phi; Freshman Baseball; Fraternity Basketball; Spanish Club; Phi Delta Literary
He was attending the Naval Academy but felt the urge to come to Mercer—a feeling that many of our Georgia boys cherish from their earliest boyhood days.
Frank is never too busy to stop and exchange ideas with any one. He is willing to talk on any subject, whether it be a course in English or the latest political movement.
"To be a success" is his ambition. With his frank expression and congenial disposition there is no doubt that his ambition is already half achieved.
"Confidence of success is almost success."

HENRY BYRD COLEMAN, A.B.

"Byrd"

There is a quality of friendship found in "Byrd" that makes him a friend to all. We are glad to have known such a fellow during our brief stay at Mercer. Good-natured, pleasant and agreeable? Yes. This statement is vouched for by the fact that he was elected as the "best-natured man" in the summer session of '25. We hope that all good things may be his in his work as a minister of the Gospel.

Alabama shares the honor of having a son who is a Mercerian, with the other states of the South. And it is a credit to any state to be able to boast of such a minister of the Gospel as Charles L. Clark.
His work at Mercer would be a credit to any man. Hats off to any one who can do excellent school work and at the same time serve as pastor for an out-of-town church. Such has been the work of Clark. He is steady, consistent and a conscientious worker.

Honors have come to Gene because honors were provided for men like him. If any one of his many gifts transcend all others, it is a personality which combines all the elements that a human soul could merit. As a Christian gentleman, he commands respect and commendation. As a student, he establishes precepts whose challenge begets emulation. As a well-rounded, modern man, physically, mentally, and morally, he may be termed the ideal—the summation of heredity’s kind favor nursed by opportunity and effort.

Here is an excellent personal friend, and one whom we shall enjoy remembering in later years. On the campus he is one of the very best of fellows; on the tennis court, none can touch him; and in the class room he is there with the goods. An abundant supply of good humor and his whole-hearted way of doing things make him worthy of the many friendships which he enjoys.

To find a better all-round fellow one would have to go a long way. As a musician, he is excellent. Many times the fair ones have heard his mellow voice as he sang from the broadcasting room of W. M. A. Z. He ranks well in all of his classes and possesses that degree of perseverance and stick-to-it-iveness which is so necessary for one who aspires to an M. D. degree.

Agreeable and amiable, slow but sure of speech, that’s Ed. The making of a good physician, we are sure.

Herschel is one about whom we hear very little. He attends his classes and works off the campus. Although his nickname is "Runt," indications point to the fact that the young ladies like him. Many are the times we have seen him "shined up" and leaving for a date with the fair sex.

With an ambition to be a teacher and a preacher, Herschel has a wonderful future before him. If he battles future life like he has battled his way through college, he will never fall short of his calling.

We present here one of our most diligent students. He always has something to do and does it without much show or display. Quiet, reserved and orderly in everything, he has been an excellent example for other students since he came to us.

We believe that much good will come from his work as a minister. Though the work is large in its scope, he has the inner power necessary to carry it through. He has the will to do, therefore we see nothing to keep him from rising to the top in his field of endeavor.

After being out of school for two years, during which time he filled the position of high school professor, Virgil returned to take his degree. To know him is to know a pleasant man. No one knows it if he ever has a worry. He always greets you with that cheerful "Hello."

Virgil is a man in whom you may put unlimited confidence. A fellow with this characteristic already has the good will of humanity and his battles of life are partly won.

This conscientious minister of the gospel has lived among us only a very short while. He came to Mercer in September, 1926. Before entering Mercer he attended Louisiana College. There he made an enviable record, serving as manager of La College Glee Club for two years. We do not know of a man of the class of '26 who has had quite as much experience in ministerial work as this man. At present he is assistant pastor and choir leader at the East Side Baptist Church.

The "Blue Grass" state has come into its own and has sent us one of its noble sons, "Dr. Quack" or "Cheesie" as he is familiarly known. attended Union University, Bethel College and Peabody College before he really found his Alma Mater.

He takes life lightly. His nature is such that he grips others and puts life into the seemingly lifeless. He aspires to be a professor, and as such, we believe that he will not only teach text-books but that he will show those with whom he comes in contact how to really enjoy life.

Dykes comes to us from Newton Junior College. It is natural to assume that a two-year man cannot blend with the students as well as one who has been with us for four years. This is not true, however, with "Can." By his congenial manner he has won the admiration of all who know him.

He has chosen a career in which he can be of service to humanity. He has chosen to teach. If he wins the respect of students as he has won that of his class mates, his influence will be nothing less than wonderful.

We look forward to the day, not far in the future, when we may have the opportunity of hearing this worthy student propound the message of the Gospel. Since his entrance at Mercer, he has worked diligently. He seeks the truth and retains it when it has been found. He is a man of very few words, but when he speaks his hearers have something worth while. The ministry will receive a noble, earnest worker when this son of Mercer receives his degree.

To those who have known "Judge" since he has been at Mercer, it is entirely unnecessary to say anything; but for those who do not know him intimately we would say that you have missed much. Few are the men who have the power to hold the good will of all those with whom they come in contact. That is just what he does. Such men straighten the kinks out of life and make life worth living. "K. I." is always present with a wealth of curiosity. But such is the road to knowledge. Then there is no wonder that he is among the number to receive 'sheep skins' in '26.

No one can keep from admiring a man with such an ambition as that which King has—that is being a missionary to South America. 'K. I.' you have a dark road to travel. Abner is a peculiar fellow. When questioned about his work, he always expresses a fear of failure and then when reports are out he never falls below the coveted 'B' average. He is another one of our three-year men, having entered with advanced standing from Gordon Institute. Although his stay with us has been short, his friends are numerous. To know him is to like him.

Another one of our Macon boys. And a faithful and true Mercerian he is too. Living in the city prevents him from forming many class associations with the boys on the campus. He is a diligent worker and never fails to be on hand when there is playing to do at the athletic games. He's always there with the goods and helps wonderfully in cheering the boys on to victory.

Jimmie has taken up the study of law during his Senior year. With his integrity, sturdiness and pleasing method of approach, his future in the legal profession is indeed bright.

Always in the laboratory "boning" over a pile of bones is the daily routine of Charles. If it isn't dissecting a cat or a human body, it is mixing deadly chemicals. A fine life for one who likes it, we say, that of being a surgeon.

Laboratory is not all the world to him, however. He finds ample time for extra-curricular activities as well and takes to them with the same tenacity that he goes about his daily class room tasks.

We cannot speak too well of him.

Newnan has sent to Mercer many noble sons but none of whom she should be more proud than Tom Glover. A jolly kind of fellow we would call Granade. Although he may not have reached the summit in scholastic standing, he has won his share of friends on the campus. He came here for something more than simply "boning" over books. Much of his time and energy has been spent in helping to put Mercer's Football Team on the map, and that has been accomplished.

"B" Greene is another of the Locust Grove boys who have made good at Mercer. Perhaps the one thing that his fellow students will associate with his name longest is his original and dry witticisms which always lend brightness to his conversation. Doubtless also, this is one of the many reasons why his fellows like him so much. "Worry gets us nowhere, so why do it?" he seems to say, and we heartily agree with him.

Rare are the pleasures which equal that of having known a man like "C. E." As a leader in college life, he has shown unusual ability. Scarcely do we find so many manly qualities in one personality. He is congenial, conscientious, refined, studious, and—well, what's the use of trying to enumerate all of them? Interpret his list of college honors for yourself.

Joe will realize his aim in life to "reach the top," for there is no one in the student body more ambitious than he. But so quiet, unassuming, and gentlemanly is he that no one knows all of his fine characteristics save a few intimate friends. Yet everyone knows him to be one of the finest fellows at Mercer.

One can never tell where he is going or where he has been but this one thing you may feel assured about—he is on business. Good judgment and an even temperament make him most likable by all his fellows. He says little but that little is worth much that many others might say. His words are loaded with thought. "Pistol Pete" as everyone knows him, is small of stature but large of mind. He possesses that inevitable smile too. If a good joke is in order, he can supply the demand; if the conversation is of a serious nature, he can emulate the most profound thinker.

"I shall be a lawyer," says he, and we believe he means every word of what he says. How long shall it be before we pick up the morning paper and see his name along beside those of the greatest lawyers of the land? It's only a matter of time and experience. Watch him mount the ladder of fame.

"Hank" is one of the most versatile men on the campus. He is a student, a musician, an actor, a director, and a teacher, and he has served in all these capacities surpassingly well since coming to Mercer. When he went to Europe last year we thought that he would enter the field of education as teacher of French, but this idea has undergone a great change and now he is studying law. Regardless of the field he finally chooses, we predict success for "Hank."

"To think is to live."

ANDREW HASELL HEYWARD, JR., A.B.

"Andy"

Perhaps the biggest local sensation of the season of '26 is the development of Andy Heyward into a basketball star of the first magnitude. He has long been a ranking tennis player as the honors enumerated above eloquently testify, and during his senior year he landed the berth of standing guard on the regular varsity five. It is unfortunate for Mercer that this is his last year. We rejoice that he is a member of the Class of '26.

We are not sure whether or not "Country" has been spending the summers in Florida, but we do know that he has caught the fever which is prevalent in that part of the country at this time, because he says that his ambition is to deal in real estate. We do not for one moment question the wisdom of his choice, because he possesses the requisites of a successful salesman: a pleasing personality, a striking appearance, a splendid faculty for making friends, and a thorough and adequate training. He shall soon be a successful "seller of the earth."

"Mike" is a busy man. So limited became his time last year that he was forced to relinquish the editorship of The Mercer Cluster because of his duties with The Telegraph. He is a journalist of no mean ability and a good student as well. He is living, appreciating and weighing all outside stimuli. Of all human attributes, perseverance is certainly one of the most admirable, and therein lies "Jack's" just claim to success. In the face of great odds, he has fought his way to recognition on the baseball squad and no one who knows the truth of matters will deny that he has contributed much toward the success of Mercer's teams during the past three years. AUBREY MARETT, B.S.C.

“Au brey”

If an idle brain is the Devil’s workshop, then Aubrey is our idea of a saint in that respect for he is about the busiest man you have ever seen. From before sunrise till after dark he is continually on the job in the ‘co-op’ or downtown, it makes no difference to him—just so he has work to do.

When times are gloomy, he knows nothing about it, that is if we are permitted to judge a man from outward appearances. That smile he wears just won’t come off. There’s ready wit back of it too. He laughs and the world laughs with him. We appreciate his acquaintances.

Alpha Lambda Tau: Waycross Club.
“Firpo” won honors as an athlete in “prep” school, having played football and basketball at Piedmont Institute before coming to Mercer. He elected not to go out for any of the teams in college, but has confined his efforts to other fields, and has proven a worthy representative of the wiregrass section of the Empire State.

“He that shutteth his lips is esteemed a man of understanding; and a wholesome tongue is the tree of life.”

TAYLOR T. PATRICK, B.S.C.
“Pat”
Jackson, Georgia

Phi Theta (Local); Phi Delta Lit.; Class Football ’25; Class Baseball ’25.
Who would be so cruel as to find fault—if there were any to be found—with this big, strong, agreeable friend? Hail and hearty he is, always affording a ray of light where gloom seems impending. When he greets you, you don’t see just a figure inhaling oxygen; you note the throbbing presence of a beaming countenance, a jovial manner, and an optimistic word.

We have doubts concerning his retention of this demeanor when at night he dons his Sunday jeans and cavorts away to lay his affections upon the shrine of some damsel. Ladies are his specialty. He took his major in the Psychology of Women—we heard. The school will go on when he is gone, but will never be the same.

“Smile, and the world smiles with you.”

WILLIAM ROBERT PINKSTON, B.S.C.
“Bobby”
Parrott, Georgia

Sigma Nu; Captain Freshman Basketball Team ’23; Captain Freshman Baseball Team ’23; Vice-Pres. Sophomore Class ’24; “M” Club; Tennis Club, Varsity Basketball ’24; Varsity Baseball ’24, ’25, ’26; Captain Baseball ’26; Vice-Pres. “M” Club ’26.

Despite his diminutive stature, Bobby has risen to athletic distinction. We cannot say that he is little but loud, because he is given to pronounced reticence. He has demonstrated that his talents are not confined to athletic arenas, being an apt student and a companionable acquaintance. He began as a freshman to annex honors and has not deviated from that pathway since. His number of friends equal his number of acquaintances.

“Good nature and good sense are ever joined.”
CHARLES WILBURN PEEK, B.S.C.
"Bo-Peek"
Cedartown, Georgia
Kappa Alpha; Phi Delta Lit.; Cluster Staff '24, '25; Assistant Baseball Manager '25; Football Manager '25.
"Bo-Peek's" ambition is a "success," and if his future may be judged by his past, his is no idle dream. He has been a success in college. In the classroom, on the Cluster staff, in the realm of athletics, his every move has been one that counts. He is one of the most popular members of his class.
"Let every man be occupied, and occupied in the highest employment of which his nature is capable, and die with the consciousness that he has done his best."

LEWIS WESLEY PETTWAY, A.B., LL.B.
"Major"
Tampa, Florida; Adel, Georgia
Alpha Tau Omega; Adano (Legal); K. of P.
Before entering Mercer, Major Petteway attended Emory University. During his brief stay there he threw himself into the field of campus honors and came out a stellar victor. According to his record during 1921 and 1922 he attained the honor of captain of Freshman Rifle Team in '21; member of Varsity Rifle Team in '22, and Freshman Baseball Team in '22. Leaving at Emory an enviable reputation, and bringing with him an ambition to broaden that reputation, he has made his mark.
"Everything comes to him who waits, so why hurry?"

J. MARVIN PHARR, A.B., Th.B.
"Doc"
Atlanta, Georgia
Pi Kappa Phi; Phi Delta Lit.; Ministerial Association; Spanish Club; Classical Club '23, '24; Glee Club '21, '22, '23, '24, '25, '26; Orchestra '21, '22; Inter-Collegiate Debater '23, '26; Pan-Hellenic Council '24, '25; Student Day Address '24; Leader of Chapel Music '25, '26; Speaker Southern Baptist Convention '24; Pep Generator during his entire college career. Besides the college honors to his credit, "Doc" has probably done more for Mercer than any other student in its history. He has spoken in nearly every section of the state in the interest of the University, and has engaged in two Georgia motor tours for education. He is one of the South's greatest congregational song leaders, having served in such a capacity in every Southern state. His talents cannot be enumerated.
"A little nonsense now and then is relished by the best of men."
LUTHER RAWSON POWER, JR., B.S.C.

"Dusty"
Macon, Georgia

Phi Theta (Local); Phi Delta Lit.

"Dusty" doesn't tell us just what his ambition in life is, but as a student; so far as activities are concerned, we do know that the ladies command a large part of his time and thought, and for the life of us we cannot muster the courage—in the face of our own experience—to offer one iota of criticism for this fact. This trait is natural and human, and may we not say "collegiate"?

"A big heart, always wishing to do right and to be friends with everybody."

JOHN MONROE RANEY, Th.M.

"John"
Vienna, Georgia

Ministerial Association.

This admirable fellow has continued the brilliant record at Mercer which he started for himself at Norman Institute. He has tapped with the rod of vigor and constant endeavor the spring of knowledge, and it has profusely filled his cup. Application is his slogan. He has found that inspiration is without utility when not accompanied by perspiration. In manner he is rather retired and reserved, but is ever ready to respond when an occasion for usefulness presents itself. He is not only a ministerial student, but a student pastor as well. He should become outstanding in the sacrificial field in which he has chosen to labor.

"Patience is a necessary ingredient of genius."

HARRY REDMAN, A.B.

"Harry"
Jackson, Georgia

Ciceronian Lit.; All-Class Football Team '24; Principal and Athletic Director of Royston High School '25; Scrub Football '26.

Harry is seldom the source of undue noise. He is not forced to resort to loudness, as are some, to proclaim himself. He is driven by eagerness, tempered with sturdiness, and crowned with poise. His possibilities are made evident in the firm, meaningful lines of his countenance, in the even beat of his stride, and the overtones of his voice. He nurtures a love for the lofty things in life, and this is no small essential to the character of a real man.

"Brave, generous, witty and exactly free from loose behavior or formality."

Fifty-five
EDGE R. REID, A.B.

Willard, Georgia

He bears perceptible marks of promise. Having chosen Journalism as his field, he has eagerly applied himself and has proven an indispensable factor in the successful issuance of our college publications. His being radiates with Journalism: his ideals, hopes, dreams and efforts converge upon it. He even looks "newspaperish".

"Do your best and let the other fellow do the worrying."

CHARLES ERNEST ROGERS, A.B.

"Doctor"

Tampa, Florida

"Doctor" is a reserved, conscientious and social fellow. He is a pleasant associate and has numerous friends on the campus.

Any man deserves commendation who can put himself through school for four years and care for a family at the same time. That's what he has done. In his duties as pastor may his future be one of enjoyment for himself and help to humanity.

"He is well paid that is well satisfied."

H. SYLVESTER SAULS, A.B.

"Silver"

Winder, Georgia

Ciceronian Lit.; Ministerial Association.

Sauls is energetic and highly strung. His reliability, perseverance, and aggressiveness make him a doer of things. He no doubt will ride the waves of these admirable qualities to the shore of useful accomplishment.

He is a ministerial student and a student pastor. He does not confine his service to Sunday, however, for during the week he may always be found actively interested in the alleviation of some local vice, or in furthering some worthy cause. He works hard and with sincerity. He merits our praise.

"Know the truth and the truth shall make you free."

JOHN SANFORD SIMMS, A.B.

"John"
Weston, Georgia

Kappa Sigma; Baseball '24-'25; Class Football '24-'25; Class Baseball '22; Assistant Manager Football '23; Pan-Hellenic Council '25; Freshman Basketball '22.

John comes out very frankly and says that his ambition is to be a millionaire. We feel doubly sure that he will reach his goal though it may seem a long way off now. He has the self-confidence and firmness which makes success only a matter of time and practical experience. He gets things done in short order.

"I awoke one morning and found myself famous."

JARRED ALEXANDER SIMMONS, B.S.E.

"Colonel" "Red"
Kelso, Tennessee

Alpha Lambda Tau; Y. M. C. A.; "M" Club; Hobo Club; Varsity Football '21, '22, '23, '24; Varsity Basketball '21, '22, '23, '24; Scrub Baseball '22, '23; Best All-round Athlete '24; Composite All S. I. A. A. Football Team '22, '23 '24; Composite All S. I. A. A. Basketball Team '24, '25; Mentioned for All-American Football '24; Member of Athletic Board of Control '24, '25; Pan-Hellenic Council '23, '24; Captain Football Team '24; Coach at Lanier High in Basketball '25, '26.
This sorrel-topped giant has often been termed the most popular man in the student body. Out of the mountainous recesses of Tennessee Cumberlands he came, and no university with all of its pervasive atmosphere of convention, ethics and applied erudition could rob him of his innate personality.

"Nothing is so strong as gentleness. nothing so gentle as real strength."

WILLIAM JAMES SHIVER, A.B.

"W. J."
Quitman, Georgia

Pi Kappa Alpha; Phi Delta Lit.; Alembic Club; Y. M. C. A.; Vice-Pres. Alembic Club '25.
Shiver's ambition is to become an A-No. 1 chemist. He elected to take about the most difficult course on the campus, specializing in Chemistry and Physics. He is scientifically inclined and endowed, and has become a student-assistant in the school of science.

Shiver's life has not become completely submerged in his main interests, however, for he takes an active part in activities beyond the pale of the curriculum. He is a friend and therefore has friends. He discovered the value of college and appropriated it.

"Constant and steady endeavor will receive its reward."

Fifty-seven
FRANKLIN TERNACE SMITH, A.B.
"F. T."
Huntsville, Alabama

Ciceronian Lit.: Ministerial Association.
It is his ambition to become an efficient minister, and his studious application is strongly indicative that his hopes will be realized. Mr. Smith came to Mercer with a wife and family, and has completed his course of study despite the handicap of domestic responsibility. It takes courage, sincerity, and strength of purpose to do things of this kind. He is worthy of man’s plaudits and God’s commendation.

"Let me live by the side of the road and be a friend to man."

ALBERT NEWTON SMITH, A.B.
"Buck"
Macon, Georgia

Those who have not had the pleasure of intimate acquaintance with "Buck" could profit by observing this quiet and steady worker. He is not given to loud trumpeting but is reserved and taciturn. He practices rather than preaches his convictions. He abhors boisterousness, is decorous, polite, and suave. He is a good student, attends assiduously to all curricular duties, and exercises his versatile powers by serving as Managing Editor of the Cluster. He takes work seriously—how foolish that seems to some of us. Perseverance like his cannot be denied.

"Diligence increases the fruit of toil."

R. DERWARD SMITH, B.S.C.
"Derward"
Milledgeville, Georgia

Derward has taken his work seriously, and therefore successfully. He represents the type who realize the value of college while in school, and appropriate their opportunities. He is thorough and purposeful in all he undertakes. An admirable gentleman he is a man whose manners challenge the emulation of indiscrete Freshmen. As dependable as Pythias, as stable as Gibraltar, Derward promises to acquit himself nobly in the school of life.

"It is the mind that makes the man, and our vigor is in our immortal soul."
HOWARD GLENN STARR, B.S.C.
"Star"
Mansfield, Georgia
Ciceronian Literary Society.

Star is a real example of a self-made man. He has attended college for six years (two years at Tech and four at Mercer) and has defrayed all of his college expenses by working not only during vacation but during the school year as well. He is self-reliant, determined, and ambitious. If the road of effort leads to the city of success, he is deserving of a goodly portion of that city's rewards.

"No termination without determination."

CHARLES J. STAPLETON, A.B.
"Charlie"
Colquitt, Georgia
Sigma Nu: Varsity Baseball '22, '25, '26; Member Athletic Board of Control '25-'26; Pan Hellenic Council '25-'26.

Charlie's congeniality has made for him a host of friends. But he doesn't have to rely on his winning manner for attractiveness; for his countenance merits the plaudits of the more or less fair sex, as well as incurring the enmity of rival Apollos. He was voted the handsomest man at the Summer School of '25—and you know the enrollment of that session comprised hundreds of girls.

Charlie is a lover of sports, and has been a valuable asset to our baseball team.

"An honest countenance is the best passport."

HILLYER HAWTHORN STRATON, A.B.
"Hill"
New York City
Kappa Alpha: Alpha Omega (Divinity); Phi Delta Lit.; Member Institute of Radio Engineers; Freshman Debater; Inter-Collegiate Debater '24, '25, '26; Founder of Alpha Omega Divinity Fraternity; Founder Mercer Players; Cluster Staff '24, '25, '26; Builder and Operator W. M. A. Z.; Cauldron Staff '25-'26.

His mind to him a kingdom is. "Hill" possesses a brilliant mind and a willingness to work. In four years he has received his A. B. and most of his A. M. credits, has taken part in campus activities, has built and operated the University Radio Station, has made a trip half the way around the world and has made sufficient money while in school to defray all his college and traveling expenses. This is a good record on which he can justly pride himself.

"Ambition rules my brain and love my heart."

Fifty-nine
RALPH RIVERS TABOR, A.B.

"Rafi" "Tess"

Toccoa, Georgia

Pi Kappa Phi; Ciceronian; Glee Club ’22, ’23, ’24, ’25; Pres. Glee Club ’25-’26; Assistant Manager Glee Club ’25-’26; Elbo (National Musical Union).

We shall never forget "Tessie." Does he ever have a serious thought? Everything seems to be lovely and if troubles are ever his we will never know anything about them. He has done his bit for his Alma Mater by his service on the Glee Club. He has tickled the ivories for four years and during those four years has enjoyed an enviable reputation among lovers of good music.

"From the crown of his head to the soles of his foot, he is mirth."

GERALD HAYNES TEASLEY, A.B.

"Babe"

Hartwell, Georgia

Pi Kappa Phi; Phi Delta Lit.; Freshman Football ’23; Varsity Football ’24, ’25; Class Baseball ’25; Alembic Club; Room Table; Band ’24; Sec. and Treas. Sophomore Class ’24; Student Tribunal ’24; Fraternity Basketball ’25; Member "M" Club; Member Cluster Staff ’25; Cauldron Staff ’25-’26.

"Babe’s" face is far from contradictory to that friendly conferred title. However, he combines in his being the mental acumen of a sages, the physical energy of a lion, and the determination of a seasoned man. His never-say-die spirit has made him a valuable player on the Bear eleven, although Gerald had never played football before entering Mercer. He simply resolved that he would make Mercer’s team, and that settled it; he did.

"Full rather had I wear out than rust out."

JAMES DAVID TWEEDY, A.B.

"Tweedy"

Dawson, Georgia

"Tweedy" is philosophical. He looks at the world broadly and unselfishly. College to him is a place in which man may prepare himself for the advancement of his own ends but for the greatest service to humanity. He should be well able to copiously realize that conception in a life of usefulness.

"Tweedy" knows not the nature of an enemy; he has none. He is extremely amiable and exceedingly accommodating.

"Patience is the best remedy for every trouble."
THOMAS HARRIS TYSON, A.B.

"Harris"

Tennille, Georgia

Sigma Nu; Ciceronian; Masonic Club; Pres. Ciceronian Lit. '25; Pres. Masonic Club '25; Pres. Shrine Club '25; Glee Club '22, '23; Presidents' Club; Pres. Special Class '23-'24; Round Table; Treasurer Senior Class; Testator Senior Class; Society Day Orator '25; Class Baseball '24, '25; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet '25-'26.

Nothing can curb ability. However, ability can be raised in potentiality by thorough training. Harris realized this and, after leaving a good job, came to Mercer in order to train himself in the demands of life. His list of honors is indicative of his talents as well as his application to duties. There is one thing about Harris' attractive personality which captures the hearts of all who know him; this is his eternal smile.

"Genius wins sometimes: hard work always."

JOSEPH TERRELL WARD, A.B.

"Bull"

Benevolence, Georgia

Phi Delta Theta; Phi Delta Lit.; Class Football '24, '25.

To look upon him is to respect him; to hear his voice means to surrender to fear. His powerful frame demands regard and his features declare the presence of possible danger. We don't know just how "Bull" acquired his nickname. He doesn't look like a bull, he isn't an habitual dispenser of the well-known zephyr-like line, and his voice is far too deep to be confused with the gentle moo of the quadruped whose name he bears. It must be that he's as big hearted as the huge animal.

"Silence is deep as eternity; speech as shallow as time."

SAMUEL J. WELCH, A.B.

"Preacher"

Preston, Georgia

Gamma Alpha (Local); Phi Delta Lit.; Treasurer Y. M. C. A. '25-'26; Class Football '25; Pres. Oratorical '13' '24; Treasurer Georgia Oratorical Association '25; Junior Orator '25; Assistant in English '25-'26.

To know him is to want to know him better. Full of fun, endowed with wit and hail-and-hearty is the boy; serious, sedate, studious, and reserved is the man. He has antithetical moods. It is dangerous to attempt to judge him and then approach him in a manner corresponding to your judgment. You may hail him "Jolly Sam" only to have him turn upon you as pensive Platonic Prof. Welch. This prefix of dignity is appended by virtue of his position as an assistant in English.

"With mirth and laughter let old wrinkles come."

Sixty-one
RALPH WALDO WEST, A.B.

"Waldo"

Pelham, Georgia

Ciceronian: Pres. Ciceronian Lit. '25; All-Class Football Team '24, '25; Class Football '24, '25, '26; Society Basketball '23, '24, '25, '26; Oratorical "13".

"No, it's not toothache—it's Brown's Mule." Such a statement falls every day from the mouth of some omniscient senior in process of assuring a horrified freshman that Waldo is not suffering from some molar infirmity. He chews and doesn't try to chew nicely like the sheiks do either.

This illustrates Waldo's character. There is no pretension about him. He is what he is from surface to center—not the skin-deep parlor hypocrite. Now don't get an unfavorable impression—for this all applies to a gentleman, an enviable personality, and a thorough student. He is practical and a hard worker. Let others have the odds—just give him a hold.

"Life decrees that our struggles shall be borne by us individually."

JAMES ROSCO WOMMACK, A.B.

"Jamie"

Tennille, Georgia

Here is the one member of the class who is built for speed. Add to this accuracy and you have a combination that is hard to beat. Just such a combination is Jamie. He is one man who always stands at the head of his classes.

His associations with certain of his professors has necessitated his carrying a slide rule as an aid to speed in computations. His major is Physics and as recognition of excellence in that subject he was chosen as Laboratory Assistant in that department during his senior year.

He is liked by every student on the campus. It is a great pleasure to have known him.

Presidents' Club '25; Pan-Hellenic Council.

In K. E. Bray we find all the qualities of a polished gentleman, and one whose abilities are unlimited. And more, he is a keen observer, and excellent scholar and a profound analytical thinker. During his stay at Mercer, Kenneth has played a most important part in student activities and has been identified with many of the movements aiming to the upbuilding of the school. Kenneth taught school several years before returning to Mercer in the Fall of '24, but he fell right in line as a student, and he is indeed an example for others.

"He was a lawyer, not a robber, and all the people wondered."

RALPH M. EDEN

"Plub"

Macon, Georgia

Sigma Alpha Epsilon: Delta Phi (Local).

Our only criticism of Ralph is that "he draweth the thread of his verbosity finer than the staple of his argument." When it comes to talking he is without peer, and is the originator of the statement that, "Whosoever tooeth not his own horn, the same shall not be tooed." But with all his loquacity, Ralph is a capital fellow and a splendid student. He is also as friendly as a little spaniel and never harmed a soul in his life.

"A good line o' bull backed by information goes a long way."

Some five years ago, the little city of Sandersonville, nesting among the foothills of Washington County, sent us one of her choicest sons. Judge has more than lived up to the reputation which he brought here from his home town. A fair student, a prince of a good fellow, and a peerless sheik, he carries the good wishes of a host of friends out into life, and it is our prediction that he will not disappoint them.

OSCAR T. LONG
"O. L."
Macon, Georgia
Phi Theta: Adano; Basketball '25-'26: Secretary Senior Law Class '24-'25: Secretary Senior Law Class '25-'26.
Quiet but efficient, and how efficient! In Oscar we have a living example of the old stage that still waters run deep. He speaks but seldom, but when he does speak, his hearers always listen with respect, for when he speaks he always says something. Then too, this Oscar of ours is no slouch of an athlete. He has played guard on the basketball team for the past two years, and like he does everything else, he has played it well.
"Neither to laugh nor to cry but to understand."

S. FLEETWOOD MADDOX
"Fleet"
Dublin, Georgia
Sigma Nu: Delta Phi (Local); Vice-President Pan-Hellenic Council '25: President Pan-Hellenic Council '26.
One can tell by looking at him that there is something to this man. His very face portrays seriousness and steadiness of character and purpose. But no one can really appreciate Fleet till one knows him. He is one of the most likable men in the class, and has perhaps as many friends as anyone at Mercer. As a lawyer he will be very successful or we miss our guess a mile at least.
"Manhood is above all riches."

SAMUEL A. MILLER
"Sam"
Sam is a man of deeds, not a refugee to a protective veil of words. We can best do him justice by saying he is a human circle saw who whets to a keen edge all with which he has contact. But he has worked, worked, worked, and results have been his reward. Proficiency has characterized his work, and he has led his classes, attained some of the highest honors on the campus, and has become ready for the hard work of life. "All that he has touched he has adorned." The world robs Mercer of an asset. (T. C.).
"A cheerful disposition is a fund of real capital."

William Carson Quattlebaum

"W. C."

Every organization, every class, must have in it what is known as the old head. Our friend whose picture embellishes the space above fills that place in this class. He is by far the most mature man, and the surest thinker in Dr. Harris' Justice of the Peace Nursery—better known as the Mercer Law School. Nor is he by any means the least brilliant student in this aggregation. His classroom work is far above the average.

"I will not budge an inch."

William Vaughn Rice

"W. V."
Hiawassee, Georgia

Adano; Phi Delta; Vice-Pres. Senior Law Class '25-'26.

Rice came to Mercer with the intention of preparing himself to become a lawyer. He has adhered steadfastly to that intention. Till today he is ready to enter his profession, as a smooth polished barrister, equipped with a goodly store of legal lore and a bag of legal tricks that are bound to make the opposition sit up and take notice. It has never been our pleasure to know a more perfect gentleman, or one whom we had rather see succeed than Rice.

"What I think, I utter."

Berto Rogers

Phi Delta.

To look at him one would never think that he is a law student. He rather gives the impression of being a prosperous tobacco salesman. But if you sit in class with him you will soon learn that the estimable Mr. Rogers is a law student of the first rank. As steady as a work ox, he plods along, unmindful of the temptations that allure men from the path of rectitude and duty.

"To strive, to seek, to find and not to yield."

Jack Barney Taylor

Jack has only been with us this one year, having descended upon us from the University of Georgia, like a true Bulldog from his lair. But during this year we have learned to appreciate some of his good qualities. When he is not in class or studying, he is generally to be found playing his trumpet or clarinet at some dance.

"Labor, laughter and love."

Behold! The eternal Freshman! Here most worthy readers we present to your gaze the right honorable, Lee Battle, Esq., the all time rat of Mercer campus. For twenty odd years this stellar philosopher has stood foremost in the receiving line to welcome all new comers. "Once acquainted, always acquainted" is his slogan. By use of this slogan he has become a mental recorder. His accuracy in naming Mercerians is as dependable as the University Record Book, and his character descriptions are superior to those of many great writers.

We may term him as an "all rounder," for he is always on hand, whether it be in the dining hall or at an athletic game. In him we find the lustiest of all the rooters for the Bear teams. And through all these years of faithful service he has never let the flame of his love for old Mercer be quenched. His class is the Freshman class—his athletic teams, Mercer's teams.

The War Memorial Building

The Auditorium-Gymnasium, to be known as the War Memorial building, is to be one of the most unique and useful structures in the South. Its uses are manifold, its need imperative, and its value inestimable. The Alumni Association is fast making a reality out of a dream.

When completed the building will contain the Sport Arena with a seating capacity of three thousand, a swimming pool, locker space for a thousand men, four series of shower baths, separate rooms for the athletic teams, rooms for the visiting teams, a Trophy Room for memorial tokens of the three great Wars, and for cups and trophies won by our teams, and a room for the "M" club.

In addition to its usefulness as an athletic building it will serve to alleviate the present crying need for class rooms. The structure will have seven offices and fifteen class rooms, a space sufficient to accommodate four hundred students.

Mercer University may well be proud of its Alumni Association which thus makes possible the erection of a building with such vast utilitarian possibilities.
Fraternities

One will observe in glancing through these pages that Fraternities occupy a very conspicuous berth, and designate a most attractive section. Inevitably one would conclude that these organizations play a titanic part in the life of the student body; and should, therefore render an infinite service toward the moulding into admirable mankind the youth who come to Mercer. The conclusion would be unquestionably true. Now, as for the effect of such exclusive organizations upon the size and personnel of the student body, we do not say. However, we must register a foregone truism by saying that. Fraternities are well-founded organizations, and no doubt represent a dynamic instrument for some purposes. And Mercer or any other college that fails to utilize this power to the best advantage is committing a grave mistake.

Incidentally, we are in position to give the following striking facts relative to these organizations at Mercer. According to roughly compiled statistics there are fourteen fraternities here, embracing approximately forty per cent, of the entire student body. Among these groups one will find men of the highest type, men with enviable records; men who have proved themselves to be aggressive leaders in all phases of college life. The most representative of them stand for honor, idealism, and principles which are eternal. The author of this article looks with keen anticipation to the day when a better relationship between fraternities and the administration, and fraternity men and non-fraternity men will have been realized. The best of men desire this relationship. Help them realize it, and by so doing utilize wasted power, and engender democracy into the student body heart. Would that we had more Masons, more social and honorary fraternities, and hence more fraternalism.

It was thought by some last year that the Cluster had reached its peak of excellence and could be no better. However, the stride towards a greater paper has not halted. This year it has lengthened to such an extent that an eight page sheet has been possible. This is the first time in the Cluster history that such an issue has been turned from the press.

The staff is the best ever and deserves a lot of credit as a unit. Under the able generalship of Editor Sam Whatley they have almost achieved the goal of the ideal college newspaper. The Cluster is one of the best, if not the best, college sheets in the South. To Whatley and his staff this credit is due.

The first broadcasting station ever owned and operated by a university is none other than the station WMAZ, Mercer University, Macon, Ga.

Mercer became this pioneer in the radio field in 1922-23. In the fall of that school year Dr. Weaver, President of Mercer, realized the benefit to be gained by the university that possessed a broadcasting station. Henceforth he authorized Dr. Claude R. Fountain, head of the physics department, to install a broadcasting station in connection with this department. Dr. Fountain was the man for the situation, for he had majored in wireless telegraphy at Columbia, while securing his Ph.D. from that University. He has done much to enhance the art of radio broadcasting. His most notable achievement was the invention of a high power vacuum tube.

Mercer was further fortunate in having in one of its students, Hillyer H. Stratton, a graduate of the Radio Institute of America, and a member of the Institute of Radio Engineers—a man who could easily hold the position of operator. Mr. Stratton did the actual construction of the set as it stands today, and is chief operator of the 500 watt station.

The program director and chief announcer, Carey O. Pickard, is flooded on every mail by the numerous applause cards and letters from various parts of the United States complimenting WMAZ on its fine programs and the excellence of the announcer's voice. Mr. Pickard has as his assistant E. A. Crudup, who has recently practically taken charge of securing the programs. The assistant operator and the next in line for the chief operator’s position is John Chas. Stratton, brother of the present chief operator, and a sophomore at the University.

The present monetary value of Mercer’s broadcasting station is $50,000, but the value of the publicity to Mercer, Macon and the South can not be estimated in dollars and cents, for the "voice of WMAZ" is heard by over fifty thousand people in America five times every week during the scholastic year.

Constitution

ARTICLE 2. The purpose shall be to promote good fellowship among its members: to discuss literary topics and important questions of the day; to unify the thinking of its members in regard to the problems of college life, and to enlist their more active endeavor in the solution of these problems; to aid in maintaining high moral and intellectual ideals in the student body.

ARTICLE 3. Membership shall rest upon a basis of general merit as to standing in class work and other activities. Only those shall be eligible to membership who have been students in the university at least one year. Members shall be elected by a unanimous vote of the club. Students may be nominated for membership by any members of the Round Table or by any member of the student body.

One Hundred Ninety-eight
Summer School
THE SUMMER SCHOOL CAULDRON STAFF

Two Hundred
The 1925 Summer School marked the sixth year of the services of Professor Peyton Jacob as head of this school. Since his start at Mercer in 1919 the Summer School enrollment has grown from a mere handful of 88 students to a thriving and systematic body numbering 411 in 1925.

But Professor Jacob's aim and accomplishment has not been merely in numbers. It has been chiefly an improvement of curriculum offered its patrons. Under his able tutelage we can see for Mercer's future Summer Schools only growth and expansion.

Prior to his connections at Mercer, Professor Jacob was Dean of Summer School at Baylor College. He attended the University of Chicago and Mississippi College. To add to his A.B. and A.M. degrees he now has a Ph.D. from Peabody at Nashville, Tennessee.

COACH STANLEY L. ROBINSON

We believe in giving credit where credit is due and to Coach Stanley L. Robinson must go the credit for the advance made in athletics during his three years stay here. When he first came to Mercer, the athletic endeavors here were somewhat limited in that Mercer had not ventured to play teams with a nationally known reputation. But 'Robbie' knew best and scheduled some of the best teams in the South for the Bears. He succeeded in holding Georgia to a 7 to 0 score his first year here. Then he beat Florida 10 to 0. And to cap the climax, this past year he took a handful of veterans and a crowd of sophomores and moulded a team that before the season was over beat two of the best teams in the S. I. A. A. It was due to his faithfulness and hard work that Mercer has made such wonderful progress. He is leaving this year and with him go the best wishes of the whole student body. The school that gets him will have a man of high moral character and a coach who ranks with the best in the South. We hate to see him leave.

COACH JOHN M. KING

Coach John King took a few men and worked them hard. The results show that he has one of the best basketball teams in the South. He instills a fighting spirit in the team that makes the boys fight harder when the score is against them. Few men dared predict a successful season for the indoor Bears this year but under the leadership of this man, their fondest dreams for Mercer's basketball program have been realized.

JOHN HERNDON

When a brother has preceded you and played your same position on a football team you are playing under a handicap. Bela Lancaster had this bugaboo just after Carl Lancaster graduated. Now comes John Herndon seeking to surpass his brother, Mike. The degree of his success is not doubted. He always fought. He used his head in a commendable way. He should land a regular berth at guard in 1926.

DENVER FLEMING

Denver Fleming has an athletic looking frame that would put Apollo to shame. He is generally conceded to be the best specimen of athletic timber at Mercer in so far as his build is concerned. And he did not fail to utilize this admirable frame to the best purposes. Dividing duty with Captain Carson at Center, he was always a bulwark of strength in the line. Coaches for the 1926 season would do well to select Fleming as the nucleus around which to build a major line.

F. B. DUNN

"Slue" was handicapped with injuries during the past season but that did not stop him from giving all that he had while he was playing. Shifted from his regular position at guard to tackle at the beginning of the season he proved to be a wonderful man for the place and when called upon to play guard in the last three games, he showed that he had the versatility found in only good men by playing a superior brand of football. He has one more year with Mercer and everything points to its being his best.

MARION ROBERTS

Marion started the season at end but when the coaches found that they needed a good fullback, Roberts was called on to fill the position, which he did in a wonderful manner. Although he was called on only a few times to carry the ball, his interference made possible many of the long gains made by the other backs. His outstanding work was on the defense. Time and again he would break through the line to throw the opposing backs for losses. With another year before him it seems that he is destined to do big things.

PRENTISS NEAL

"Boo" was the smallest lineman to make a letter. His best work was on the defense although he was mighty good on opening up holes for the backs to go through. His grit and determination were the biggest factors in his success as a guard. What he lacked in size he made up in fighting spirit.
KAY TIPTON

Perhaps no man on the team has labored under as many difficulties as has Tipton. Most of the season, he was under a handicap caused by injuries but despite this fact he has played some wonderful football. He is one of the best defensive ends that ever played for Mercer and is there with the goods on the offense, too. With one more year before him, we can safely say that the end position will be well cared for.

C. L. PIERCE

"Little Bit" also played his first year in '25. Weighing around 200 pounds, he has shown everyone that has seen him play that he is fast developing into one of the best tackles that Mercer has ever had. In the Furman game he picked up a fumbled punt and ran for a touchdown. This kind of play was characteristic of his playing during the entire year. Always in the thick of the fight, he is a very valuable man to both his team and his coaches.

JOHN PARKS

Captain-elect Parks started the ball to rolling in the Oglethorpe and Furman games by scoring a touchdown in both games the first few minutes of play. He was picked as an All S. I. A. A. end the last year and justly deserves the honor given him by his team mates in electing him captain. We predict a great future for the Mercer varsity with such a man as Parks to lead them.

ELI MCDONALD

"Mac" continued the good work of the Tennessee boys this last year to such an extent that he was picked on the mythical All S. I. A. A. team. A big man and fast for his weight, he was always a threat to the opposing team both on the offense and defense. His old position at tackle will be hard to fill next year for few men have the fight and determination that he had. A hard, clean fighter all times. We see a great future for him.

FRED FORRESTER

Beginning the season at fullback, Forrester was a little out of place but when shifted back to center he blossomed out into a very valuable man for the team. He was especially good on breaking up passes and was responsible in no small way for stopping of a determined drive by Furman by intercepting several passes. He was also good about getting down under punts. His passing was all that could be desired of a center and with both Fred and Fleming back next year, the center position will be well cared for.
BELA LANCaster

"Lank" Lancaster has played his last game for the Orange and Black and all Mercer supporters hate to see him leave. He stepped into the shoes left vacant by his brother, Carl, and filled them in such a manner that he was elected alternate captain this last year. Always in the thick of the fight, encouraging the others and stopping line plays Lancaster has proven to be an inspiration to all the other men. During his four years at school, he has never missed a practice or game or had time called out on him. Best of luck to you, Lank in the game of life!

FARRAR SMITH

Perhaps no man ever came to Mercer with as much to live up to as this boy did and no other made any better success of it. His brother "Crook" was a great athlete but little brother, "Phoney," has done more than his share in keeping up the 'rep' of the Smith family. One of the best open field runners is the credit given him by the sport writers and that is not strong enough. He has a wonderful future before him as an athlete. He was picked this past fall as All S. I. A. A.

RALPH SKELTON

Playing his first year on the varsity Ralph has shown that he has the stuff of an All-Southern man in the making. He was the most consistent performer in the backfield and it was seldom that he failed to gain when called upon. He played a wonderful game against Oglethorpe and was one of the vital cogs of the team in every phase of the game. His 'stumbling run' has caused many remarks to be made by the different sport writers and if he keeps it up he will stumble right on to an All-Southern position.

GERALD TEASLEY

Almost three years ago a little fellow applied for a uniform and expressed it as his intention to try for the football team at Mercer. His unlimited amount of courage and his unconquerable spirit soon brought him to the notice of the coaching staff. He was too little to use that year. He grew in body during the next year and at the same time grew in favor with the coaching staff. In the season of 1924 he was given some experience at quarterback. When 'Rusty' Lawrence failed to return to school in 1925 Coach Stanley Robinson saw best to use 'Babe' Teasley as his successor. Except on those rare occasions when injuries forced him out of the fray 'Babe' showed plenty of 'stuff,' as the slang of the field would put it. His strong forte was his defensive work.
C. B. Carson

When the squad of 1924 chose "Bo-Dick" Carson to lead the team of 1925 they placed their confidence in a quiet yet aggressive player whom they had reason to believe would be so persistent in his untiring efforts that success would be inevitable. The wisdom of their judgment was demonstrated up in Atlanta one day when the Bears under his leadership plucked the petals of Oglethorpe, though doped to lose by a large score. Captain Carson was mentioned a number of times for All S. I. A. A. center and it is not doubted that he was the scrappiest center of his weight in the association. His work was made the more difficult for him due to continued injury.

Jack Bate

Jack's record in football is one that most men aspire to when they first enter college. His success is due to his gift of smiling and digging at the same time. Apparently it's all play with Jack. Few men of his build have been more dependable for gaining yardage whenever needed and still less are they who are endowed with as many qualifications of an admirable fast ball player.

Jimmie Glover

It is in the game of football that the varied characteristics of men stand forth in their true light. Jimmie Glover's effervescent buoyancy, coupled at the same time with grim determination, enabled him to step into the breach and play an admirable game at quarterback during the season of 1925 after "Babe" Teasley was hurt. The shift from fullback to quarterback did not seem to impair Jimmie's style at all, not even after a poor start on account of injuries. Jimmie was chosen as alternate captain for the year 1926.

Wallace Butts

Wallace was one of the outstanding players of the year. His work at end was a sight pleasing to any man's eye. He rarely ever missed a tackle and could always be depended upon to get his man on offense. His fighting spirit kept up the morale of himself and the team at all times, and had the power to make the other fellows fight harder. He was small in size but big in his work.

COACH ALBERT SIDNEY JOHNSON

Coach "Sid" Johnson is an old Mercer Bear and captained the team that beat Oglethorpe in 1922. During his senior year here he was picked by several writers as an All-Southern man. This year he was called upon to guide the destinies of the freshmen and it seems that no better man could have been picked for the job. His team was defeated only once during the entire season. He believes in work and plenty of it. This is the secret of his success as a coach.

Freshman Football

Perhaps no freshman team in the South has ever made a record like the one made by the Mercer freshman team of 1925. The "Cubs" played a total of five games: winning one, losing one and tying three. The first year teams of Oglethorpe, Georgia and Tech were held to 0 to 0 scores. G. M. C. was beaten and Florida proved to be the only team that had a strong enough offensive to score on them.

The team had plenty of weight and speed and it is likely that several of the men will see service on the varsity team of 1926.
FRESHMAN SQUAD

FRESHMAN TEAM

Two Hundred Thirty-one
Basketball

Mercer's basketball season was a wonderful success this past year. To begin the season, the team took a long trip through the West and succeeded in winning three out of six games scheduled: the best record that the indoor Bears have ever made on a Northern invasion.

In the South, Mercer's success has been just as good, if not better. The team has not been defeated on its own court during the entire year. Such teams as Citadel, Oglethorpe, Centre, and others being overcome by them.

On a long trip through Mississippi, the Bears were able to come out with a percentage well above .500.

Their play during the whole season has been marked by the aggressiveness and fight that characterized all Mercer teams.
CAPTAIN "JAEKEY" DUNN

Captain Jakty Dunn may well be proud of the indoor Bears and the way they have played this year. From the very beginning they have demonstrated that they have one of the smoothest working teams to be found in the South, and a great deal of credit for this accomplishment should go to Jakey. He has shown at all times that he is an ideal man for the captaining of a fighting team. His floor work has been good and his eye for the basket could hardly be improved upon. It was seldom that he failed to get more than his share of the points in a game. His playing has been above par for the whole season.

"MAC" GREENE

"Mac" Greene has all the qualifications of an ideal center. Seldom it was, that a man got the tip-off on him. But his all-round playing deserves mention. His defensive work at times reached the heights of perfection and it was unusual for him to miss a try at the basket when he had half a chance at sinking a goal. He has never been known to stand still during a game. He was on the go all the time. His height helped him under the enemies goal at getting the ball and when on the offense it was exceedingly dangerous for the opposing team to allow him to get free under his own goal.

"PHONEY" SMITH

"Phoney" Smith, playing his first year on the varsity, showed that he was the man to fill the shoes of the great players who had preceded him. He was the most elusive man to be found in the South this year. He was an exceptionally good dribbler but the best thing to be said about him is the fact that he never took a shot at the basket when a man was clear and nearer the basket than he. Right now he is one of the best forwards in the South and with two more years before him he should show the sport critics how the game should be played, when played by a master player.

JOHN PARKS

John Parks stepped out of the cleated shoes right into the ones left vacant by "Crook" Smith at running guard. The points that he got during the different games may not come up to those of the other players but his fight and defensive work were never criticized. Always fighting and keeping his team mates on edge for the game he did a wonderful work this past year. John has another year in which to do his stuff and all indications seem to point towards it being his best. It is always a man like Parks who keeps a team fighting when the score is against it. He takes the spirit from the other team and puts it in his team mates.
OSCAR LONG

Oscar Long is one of the most dependable men Coach King had during the entire year. He played every position except center and his height was his only handicap there. When called upon at any position he gave his best and that is all we can ask of any man. He was put in during the last half of the Florida game when the score was against us and it was due mainly to his efforts that the score sheets were reversed at the end of the game. This is a fair sample of the kind of work he did during the whole year.

"ANDY" HEYWARD

The only regret we have about "Andy" Heyward is that he didn't come out for basketball until his senior year. Last year he played on a fraternity team and showed such good form that the coaches asked him to come out for the varsity and the results show that they did wisely. He was shifted from forward to guard and the times were few indeed that the opposing forward slipped around him to sink a goal. His playing is nothing if not good.

KYLE ALFRIEND

Kyle Alfriend, another product of fraternity basketball, has proven that he has the ability and fight required in a man who plays on the varsity. He is fast on his feet and shoots well. The substitutions this year were few but Kyle came through in great style every time that he was called upon. If he keeps up his good work there is little question that he will be on the first line-up before he leaves school.

KAY TIPTON

Kay Tipton consented to quit his studies and other activities long enough to make the varsity basketball squad. Up until this year, Kay has limited his athletic ability to football but it seems that he has made a mistake in doing so. He has made a good man for Coach King to call upon when a good guard is needed. His work has been good at all times and bids well to be much better with one more year before him.

EMORY HEYWARD

Emory Heyward, the younger brother of Andy, was rather small to be on a varsity team but his work was above the average whenever called upon. His shooting eye was uncanny. It seemed at times that some of the shots he made were almost impossible. With one year's work behind him, next year should be a good one for him. All he needs is a little size and then he will step right along with the best of them.

Two Hundred Thirty-six
RESOLUTION which led to the establishment of a classical and theological school was introduced at the annual session of the Georgia Baptist Convention by Reverend Adiel Sherwood, one of the few scholarly men of his day.

Mercer Institute opened January 14, 1833 with thirty-nine students in attendance. It was located seven miles from Greensboro, Ga. Rev. Billington M. Sanders was chosen as principal and the training of young ministers. Mercer, like Wake Forest and Richmond College, was founded upon the idea that manual labor be combined with study. It was a technical school to the extent that the most up to date methods of wielding a hoe were taught.

The Baptists in 1836 undertook to establish a Southern Baptist College. Due to lack of funds and a division as to location the project was abandoned. To fill the need of a school of university grade to educate the young men of Georgia of Baptist families and to provide a theological school of high standing, Mercer Institute by an act of the legislature was advanced to the grade of a college and authorized to confer literary degrees. By 1839 the total endowment of Mercer probably exceeded $125,000. Jesse Mercer, for whom the university is named, was the largest early contributor to the university. His gifts amounted to more than $10,000.

Mercer opened as a college with Rev. Billington Sanders as president. Rev. Adiel Sherwood, professor and S. P. Sanford and J. W. Attaway as assistant professors. The first degrees were granted in 1841 to R. M. Johnson, B. F. Tharpe, and A. R. Wellborn.

Dr. B. M. Sanders was the first president. He was followed by Rev. Otis Smith who served for three years. Rev. John Leadley Dugg, D. D., served for ten years as president beginning in 1844. His superior scholarship and affability commanded the love and respect of every one. He was followed by Dr. N. M. Crawford who was succeeded by Dr. H. H. Tucker after ten years of service. Dr. Tucker later became chancellor of the University of Georgia. Dr. A. J. Battle became president in 1872 and served for seventeen years. Dr. G. A. Numally was elected in 1889 and served until 1892. Dr. J. B. Gambrell, that grand old Baptist, served as president and teacher of theology from 1893 to 1896. Dr. P. D. Pollock came to the presidency in 1897 and served until his death in 1905. Dr. C. L. Smith succeeded him and was in turn succeeded by Dr. S. Y. Jamesson who served until 1918. Rev. W. L. Pickard succeeded him as president and served until 1918 when Dr. Rufus W. Weaver became the thirteenth president.

Mercer men's initiative have launched the creative behind the founding of Brenau, Bessie Tift and Baylor University. Many of her sons have attained nation wide importance. A graduate of Mercer is the world's greatest living historian, the two most outstanding champions of the old faith of our fathers, preachers, and men of science not to speak of the great host in which she has instilled high ideals and noble thoughts of those men who have gone out to make up the rank and file of our country. Those men she has sent out with firm religious beliefs and high standards of morality. They have taken an active part in their respective local governments, have raised God fearing families and have in turn sent noble men to Mercer.

Mercer has ever been outstanding in the forensic art. She has met and defeated the strongest forensic teams in the country. For three successive years Mercer men won the Georgia State oratorio championship and in one instance the championship of the entire South. In debate Mercer has a record of over eighty percent of victories over her opponents.

In athletics Mercer has excelled. The Mercer baseball team has always been an honored and feared aggregation and has more than once been the contender for the South-wide championship. In basketball Mercer has met and defeated the strongest teams in the United States which meant the championship of the world. For two years in succession she has won the championship of the Southern Inter-Collegiate Athletic Association. For both years a challenge to play the other contender for South-wide championship has not been accepted. On the gridiron Mercer has developed in the past four years a team that has defeated outstanding Southern teams. The Mercer football squad is one that is respected in all quarters and in the next few years it bids to be one of the strongest if not the strongest teams in the South.

In the matter of scholarship Mercer has ever held up high standards. The work of Mercer is accepted in all the universities of America as work of the highest grade. Mercer men have attained world-wide importance in the field of scholarly research.

The scholars of law and theology are recognized everywhere as being the strongest in the South.

The other departments of the university are on a plane equally as high. The present faculty is recognized as being the most substantial and well founded in the South.

In the past Mercer has done great things, has turned out great men, has produced strong athletic teams, has been one of the outstanding educational institutions in the South. The true history of Mercer, however, lies in the future, which we shall leave to the historian of the future.

L. R. Scarborough, D.D., President
Seminary Hill, Texas

To the Students of Mercer University:

It gives me great pleasure to call your attention to the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary. It is a great place for preachers, gospel singers, S. S. and B. Y. P. U. workers, missionaries and men desiring any sort of secretarial work in the churches and Kingdom of Christ. Such workers can get what they want and what they need at the Southwestern. We have a great Baptist Spiritual atmosphere, tides of evangelism run high, a noble, scholarly faculty, health, happiness and hard work. We invite you to come to us.

Write for catalogue and further information to L. R. Scarborough, President,

EVERYONE NEEDS AMUSEMENT
Afterword

INIS! To us, dear reader, this little word suggests an infinite field for thought. But what does it suggest to you? That is the question in which the 1926 Cauldron staff is more sincerely interested. Of course, to us the word signifies the completion of only half our undertaking, since the more difficult and probably the more unpleasant half is only begun. We must pay and we regret that this pay must come from no other source than you, patriotic supporters of this publication, and our advertisers.

In the foreword we endeavored to record the fundamental purpose we had in mind at the outset of our undertaking. We set out to reach a goal—to surpass all precedents—to compile a Cauldron of which every Mercerian would be truly proud—one which would serve as a guardian for the memory of a well spent life—the memory of which should never die. Now that the book has been compiled, and the staff has most enthusiastically, and to the very best of its ability, labored unceasingly toward the realization of its purpose, we are desirous of knowing if you are well pleased with the product of its meagre efforts. If you are, we are profoundly gratified; if not, we are regretful. Remember that we did the very best we could under the peculiarly delicate circumstances.

Obviously, we have purposely deviated from many of the conventional methods of compiling a Cauldron. First, we have attempted a clear cut picture book, with only explanatory printing matter. All engravings are shifted to the right hand pages, thereby making the portraits most conspicuous upon opening the book. Second, we have omitted all poetry and jokes, since our space was limited and a history of Mercer University, the autograph space, and the index were much preferred. Third, three-color process divisional pages are used throughout the book. And incorporated upon the cover and the divisional pages is the "pot" (Cauldron), which portrays the true theme of the book—a theme suggested by the following lines taken from Shakespeare's Macbeth: "Double, double, toil and trouble: fire burn and Cauldron bubble." Here it might be well to call your attention to the design upon the cover of the book. The two symbols projecting from the pot represent the Theological Seminary and the School of Law—the Holy Bible, the Theological Seminary, and the 18th century judge, the School of Law.

In conclusion, dear reader, we feel that we have had our words. And here we would close with a clear conscience had we previously paid tribute to those who made possible the production of this edition of the Cauldron. Too much cannot be said by us in appreciation to the entire student body—and especially are we indebted to the memorable senior class of '26. In passing there are those members of the faculty whom we cannot omit. To our admirable faculty advisor, Dr. Rufus C. Harris, and our dear friends, Dr. A. P. Montague, and Dr. J. Clay Walker, we owe much. Now we come to those who actually did the work, and to them much credit should go: the Cauldron staff, our engraver, Alabama Engraving Co.; our printer, Ben Franklin Press, Inc., of Atlanta, and our photographer, Metro Studio, Macon, Ga.

THE EDITOR.

O, well done! I commend your pains;
And every one shall share i' the gains:
And now about the Cauldron sing,
Like elves and fairies in a ring,
Enchanting all that you put in."
