Senior Class History

TRAVELERS when climbing some high mountain, as they approach the top, turn and gaze down upon the precipitous slopes that but a short while ago they have passed so laboriously over. So it is with us, the class of '15. As the summit of our aspirations looms bright before us and we realize that but a little while and we shall leave the walls of dear old Mercer, a pang comes over us when we think of what delightful days they have been and how much they have meant to us.

Those Original Freshmen! Four years have not dimmed our recollection of them and there are, assuredly, good reasons for their being so indelibly impressed upon our memories. Those terrific conflicts with the Sophs, the numerous busts in Latin, and coach classes in Trigonometry, were enough to make the bravest fear. Sad to say many fell struggling by the wayside.

It was in our Sophomore year that our real College Life began. We were no longer to be called Freshmen by the upper classmen, but now had the long looked for opportunity of conferring upon the new comers the honorary title. This, our Sophomore year, also added to our ranks many new recruits who were so speedily assimilated that when the Junior year rolled around they could not be distinguished from the original Freshman.

Now for the dignified Seniors. How ardently we have wished for the day to come when we could behold ourselves as such on the College campus. Now, the departing day draws near and with it comes the time for putting into practice those wonderful creeds which we have so painstakingly rounded out. The stern voice of duty calls to us and with valiant hearts and grim determination we go to answer the call.

W. W. Gibson, Historian.
Last Will and Testament

In the name of Sartor Resartus, Aultman's pressing club, and Uncle Jeff's mule (of whom he is a part of which) be it hereby resolved, according to the rules and regulations of such documents of this nature, that we, the class of 1915, although already declared to be in a demented frame of mental anguish, be given the legal right of setting aside certain personal and collective pieces of property, to become the heritage of all those who are destined to take up a psychological, sociological, biological, physiological or theological sojourn at Mercer University. Therefore be it resolved:

First—That our seats in chapel, together with our invaluable privilege of listening to Dr. William Lowndes Pickard, D.D., B.S.D., P.D.Q., in his discourses on the patriarchs (and himself) be handed down to the present Junior class, and to any other freshman who may cohort with them.

Second—That Willie Piggie C. Parker's place on the basketball team, having been legally obtained by F. A. Bone, be given to said Freshman without any further quibbling and bulling.

Item Three—That Boob Frank Tooke Hunt's place as pitcher in the S. I. A. A. together with his aspirations to pitch for the New York Yankees be given to Red Welsh, for the undisputed reason that they both have the same lively shade of glorious pink hair.

Section Four—That Preacher L. G. I. Holman's distinction as a coach and player on the scrub basketball squad, and his honorary degree of L. G. I. as well as his fame for wonderful playing at center on the football team be given to Dr. Bloom, Col. to belong to said squire as long as he shall use them for educational purposes.

Series Five—That W. B. McLesky's superabundance of intellect, conceit, statistical ability, his swiftness on railroad trains when the fair ones are about, together with his suit be turned in to the president of the 1916 special class, for it is an established fact that no other class can make disposition of same in a manner befitting our Alma Mater.

Spasm Six—That Bo Monk Williams' distinguished ability to speak an hour on any subject, in any meeting, be bequeathed to Snout Callaway, to be utilized as he sees fit.
Convulsion Seven—That Tango Gibson's accomplishments in the latest dances and his seat in the 'nut' be declared the property of Baby Joe Calhoun whose stupendous pompadour has cruelly deceived many a sparrow looking for a nest.

Torture Eight—That a long drawn-out legal fight be avoided by bequeathing A. No. 1 Mulling's legacy of bootlick in Logic, Psychology, Ethics, and Philosophy be handed over to Capers Palmer for his own and personal property, said heir having won his spurs by his noble speech in chapel on behalf of a certain so-called song.

Ninth Horror—That Shaver Barber's privilege to crack a joke (?) cannot be bequeathed to anyone—not even to a freshman. (N. B. notwithstanding the fact that R. A. Merrit ran a terrific race for the place).

Disaster Ten—That the deep love and affection of Josey, Dill and Stevens for Prof. Baldy Steed's sociological craze be hereby bequeathed to Whitey Florence, Nuttsy Applewhite and Conservative Cornwall.

Crash Eleven—That the soft pencils we used under Dr. Forrester's eagle eye be transmitted to our successors in sorrow, with the tearful injunction that they keep them sharpened.

Catastrophe Twelve—That the fatted calf of Prof. Newton (otherwise known as God's best man) be laid to rest beneath the sombre firs that bedeck the campus around our noble sun dial. This is done in order not to arouse Uncle Jeff's arbitrary modesty.

Last Conniption Fit—That all other personal and real property be intrusted to the care of our Bursar (otherwise known as Paminondas—God bless his lovely voice!) to be distributed to the best of his knowledge and several ability.

Done in the wear of our word (almost to shreds), One Thousand Nine Hundred and Fifteen miles from Tipperary.

The Class of 1915 L. S. (Late Supper)

Class Poem

Dost seek thy life to fathom?
To know why 'tis thou needs must strive to mould
Completeness from the incomplete, to scatter
Dogma with a cosmic creed, to teach the need
Of world-flung brotherhood and cherish still
Thine independence, scornful boast of alms
And whining sympathy?
Dost know that the just reward of him who toils
Far from the hidden goal, succumbing not
To seeming sure defeat and ceaseless fight,
Must surely come in gain of heart and soul?
Dost strive to circumvent the trodden ways
Of baseful lust, banalities accursed
Of thoughtless impulse, cowardly recoils
From each day’s bitter-seeming tasks engendering
Sore discontent and malice toward the few
Who face the way with faith and cheerful courage?
Dost think to win by aid of stubborn rule?
Think not the peaceful poise, the inward joy
That blesses him who cheerful, strong, forever
Seeks, in the very strife, the golden key to
Life’s enshrouded mystery, can grace
The search for truth by human percept blinded.
But know—
As flowers in bloom may spread their fragrance round
To cheer the common air, distilling gladness
With their sweet perfumes, thy privilege it is
To scatter laughter, peace and cheerful song
Along life’s troubled way, to keep in touch
With those who need a brother’s kindly thought
And follow e’er the glad commands of Love
Yea, Love, which is the means and end of all.

EXTRACTS FROM "ANNALS" OF MERCER LAW SCHOOL.

ASSING rapidly in our survey, we observe the marvelous transformation from a school, at its establishment in 1875, recognized as a Law School only through the aid of its title, to a "foremost power" in the legal profession. Oak trees grow slowly and develop strength and endurance. The bean stalk shoots up and out in an amazingly short time, but even at maturity its life can be blighted by one visit from Old Jack Frost. In the Mercer Law School and its supreme culmination in the present class of '15, we perceive this double quality, marked expansion with permanent influence.

By the opening of the 29th year in the Fall of 1914, the course had not only been perfected in effect, but was so constructed that it could not in justice graduate every entrant. The Godly Gideon began his campaign against the Philistines with 32,000 men. After two tests the number dwindled to 300. In less exaggerated proportions, as applied to this class, the Christmas holidays and Summer vacation depleted the ranks from 65 to 30. But what a 30 were these select few, when the less fortunate fell by the wayside, they trampled and prevailed over the doughty faculty, representing thousands of the enemy entrenched in the deep recesses of judicature. "Orful" Park and resourceful Smith felt the force of the attack and fled in precipitate haste. "Financier" Mallary with his vast left wing, after seizing from the students their source of supply, grew desperate and broke his watch chain. Major Lane and his reliable assistant, Lieutenant Felton, attempted a master stroke, but made the fatal mistake of firing into each other's ranks, thus eternally condemning themselves to defeat. Even General Speer himself, the Commander in Chief, and victor in countless engagements, acknowledged their cause hopeless, and on June 2nd, 1915, officially signed their surrender in the historic site of the old Chapel building.

Law vs. Gospel.

GAINES AND MELTON, Winners in Error. HARRIS AND BELL, Losers Contra.

Superior Court of "Poker" County, Daylight Term, Judge "Schlitz Bud-Weiser."

John R. L. "Baldy" Haynes, C. J., only sober justice, ready to "Do Equity with clean hands."

Be it remembered that about "four bells" in the A. M., there came on for play a certain "poker game" between "Ikey" Melton and "Froggie Bell". Ikey's "contretemps" hand put the skids under Froggie's cash and said Froggie doth now squeal.

"Parson" Harris "sanctimoniously and scrumptuously" argues to a "Full" Bench on his "Writ of Supplicavit" because of the "Miss-Joinder" of "Froggie" and his funds and prays that they "Have a Heart."
Then was heard the "rustle" of a cigar and the "swish" of a finger, where- upon Judge "Jesse Jimmie" Gaines gleefully opined that he had "Law from the Floor up" and that the doctrine of "Fouribus Aces et a Kingibus" simply "knocks Hell out of Harris' case".

"Jack the Wampus" Barnett decided that he would uphold the argument of "Jesse Jimmy" Gaines and based his decision on the familiar old Latin song "Omnia praecumuntur solemniter esse actia" and so being such "Ikey" would not need any of his help.

"Light Fingered" Justice Daughtry ventured that if somebody would tell him "What he had in mind" he would trade cards with "Froggie" on the "Conditional Limitation" that said Froggie conceal his hand and wipe off that "dying calf" look.

Then rose up in his wrath one "Curley Percival" Sharp and violently insisted that the whole Court was a "plu-perfect fool" because it did not take "Judicial Cognizance" of cards reposing in the "Close" of "Parties to the Suit", also counsel, and he threatened "Abel" expostulation with his "Cain" if this was not "assigned as error".

Justice "Bowry-Freak" McKnight, being well loaded, very "wobbly" averred that both sides were right and that in as much as the "Line of Demarcation" between his ear, collar and tie was so close he refused to "sit on any such blamed case".

"Four Roses" Huguley disqualifies on ground of his "relation" to Judge Schlitz Bud-Weiser. No "Evidence" was necessary to convince the Court that the "Spirit" of "Four Roses" and "Schlitz" would not blend in a congenial way and it was deemed unwise to impeach Justice Huguley for the "eruption" thereof and he was allowed to go on his way rejoicing and drinking merry toasts to "Ikey".

Judge "Darlinks Rumhouser" Powell frankly told the Court that he was not interested in the "Squealer at Bar" but that he hoped the Court would not "bar" him from receiving that bottle of "Glencove" from Brother Sharp. His "dis- sension or concurring" would, of course, depend on which party gave him the most "hand-out".

Nothing at all could be garnered from "Sneaking Tommy" Christian, the King of the Shadows, as he silently watched who won the money. The Court could well infer, though, that this "Bowery Thug" would "christen" "Ikey Melton" with a Black-Jack under the shade of the first convenient lamp post.

JUDGMENT AFFIRMED, as the Court adjourned through the "back door and side windows", on hearing the whistle of the "Cops" just outside.

Senior Pharmacy Class History

HARMACEUTICALLY speaking in a Chemical way from a Therapeutic standpoint, I should say that the twenty-five would be pill rollers who eagerly awaited the arrival of Little Doc on the morning of September 16th, 1913, gave fair promise of being a banner Pharmacy Class. To say the least not a single member seemed to be afflicted with Padobromidrosis or Polioencephalomeningomyelitis.

As time passed by, several of the fellows discovered that they could better adapt themselves to "pulling the cord," or to the use of a dentagra or becoming a "Ragtime Soldier Man" until now only twelve "Knights of the Pill" remain. But of the faithful few a number of interesting discoveries have been made. Sparrow Causey announces that Chloral Hydrate is a liquid fluid. Goober says Bromine has an odorless smell. Chestnut Bell claims to have discovered a compound to prevent Paratrichosis. Big Un and Soso have agreed to peddle some for him provided it works successfully on Scabo. Fish Jordan is to be treasurer of the firm. Jim Clements asserts that when sugar and Potassium Chlorate are vigorously rubbed together an explosion is likely to occur. John Henry Parks announces to the Pharmaceutical world that Sodium Chloride and salt are one and the same thing. Peter LaRoche and Mullet Mullings say that Hydrocyanic Acid is a fair anesthetic if taken in large doses.

It is conclusively proved by these discoveries that a class so skilled in Pharmacopoeics will pass the State Board with "flying colors" and thus reflect honor upon itself, its profession and its Alma Mater.

Junior Class History

By robbing every walk of life from the Milk Maid path to the street corner, this class took its place in the Freshman row of Mercer Chapel on September 18th, 1912. We were a little too nervous to do much during the first quarter but began to find ourselves during the second and now we are going some.

The uselessness of trying to make something out of this bunch is only exceeded by turning them loose on suffering humanity. A pretty clever set we are, always at class if the coin turns the wrong way, and the "Prof" is out of town. Never hang around drug stores when broke, never go to Cherry Street when we are blind, never pass up a course when we are busted. Our one great regret is that our old friend "Sup" has left us here. Should we ever reach our haven of rest (?) we will view our Alma Mater in the dim distance and breathe a breath of sympathy for its many "specimens" plodding the weary way, hoping that we may all be "Great enough to be small enough to be used."

If after undergoing the rub with our Mammies, our Papas, our Bursars, our Professors, our Committees on absences, and our consciences, we should find ourselves in the Senior class, the world will shake our hands while the faculty wonderfully shake their heads.

Sophomore Class History

NINE MONTHS of being called Freshman, irrespectively pan-gyrized! Time enough to learn the "Profs", the fundamentals and the value of a friend. Time during which we received the minimum credits for the maximum efforts. Then, three months of rest in the fields of our nativity, cane-brakes, cities, hamlets and corn-fields. Time, indeed, enough to lay infallible plans and to realize how favored we were by contra-distinction to the permanent Freshman. Time more than a plenty to get a select rabbit foot (judge ye our wisdom) as inoculation vs. busting. Then we became typical Sophomores. Who would doubt that the reaction was out of proportion to the impelling force?"

Dr. Pickard (at the opening) entrusted to us the protection of the Freshmen. We weren't averse to accepting the nomination and it is our fondest hope that in his sight we have kept the faith. Under the protective administration of the old students chapel exercises soon became a part of the daily routine and we realized where philosophy had colonized. Yes, 'tis said that we became Sophomoric. We can't establish the contrary against such odds, so we submit. Anyway, we should worry like shrubbery to keep our tops below the pines.

To the following eminent men the Class gave its offices: S. F. Dowis, President; Thomas Morgan, Vice-President; Howard Ennis, Sec.-Treasurer.

We go to our classes, among which is Sophomore Latin. We are called upon. We apply the charm of our rabbit foot. "Kraht" (meaning correct) says he. 'Tis the only way. After this history making epoch has been passed through we'll leave 'em on a horseshoe over the door.

In our contests with the Freshmen we have more than held our own, winning the annual rush, Tennis Tournaments, Basketball, and the debate, but losing the football game. We have yet to meet our friends the enemy, the Freshmen, in baseball.

In conclusion let us modestly, only with permission of course, say that the Sophomore Class motto is "Be the best."

Freshman Class History

The Freshman class was no sooner landed at Mercer, than groups of "old heads" began to lay plans for their initiation. The words that happened to slip through their lips and into our ears, signalling their designs, aroused our imaginations and caused us to spend more than one night in watchful waiting. The tempest finally came with all its fury, but the firmly grounded Freshmen managed to weather the gale and are now pursuing the even tenor of their way. This tempest was followed by frequent outbreaks on the part of the Sophs, and these culminated in the well known class rush, in which the Freshies were greatly outnumbered and failed to get the goods.

The Freshmen have much to boast of in the way of athletic and intellectual achievements. In football the Sophs were swept off the field and they openly confess that they are on the border line of defeat in baseball. In the class room, we as a class have "shot em up", although some few have busted. The professors take great pleasure in smiling behind our backs and whispering "This is the best Freshman class we've had in years", and the upper classmen say that this is the quietest bunch of Freshmen they ever saw. We have passed the stages of transformation and are now an indispensable unit of the college in all its activities.

To My Lady's

It is dainty and delightful,
    With its graceful curves and lines,
And it gives my heart a tremor
    Like the most delicious wines.

And my pulse beats fast and faster,
    As she trips with airy tread
Down along the wooded pathway,
    Where the fallen leaves are spread.

See her raise her skirts discreetly,
    As she picks her way with care
O'er the bubbling brook that's singing
    Glad to have her mirrored there.

Once her foot dips in the water
    Which caresses with a sprinkle;
Ah! I tell you, 'tis a beauty—
    Is my lady's pretty——

Junior Law Class History

In this limited space, it would be unwise, injudicious and against sound discretion to attempt any true and faithful account of the history, both sacred and profane, of this litigious spirited class of 1916. Therefore, absolutely and at all events, the present historian will leave all superfluous details to the future author of the history of the Georgia bar, trusting thereby many a fire-branded Georgia youth may be aroused to the high calling of the legal profession.

To the gist of the matter. This class, taken with reference to time, has not traveled very far, but in fact and in law it has evolved and wobbled from steam rollers to (S)ales. Between these two, however, we have "fearfully and wonderfully" developed, even so much that the present Georgia judges are feeling shaky on their benches (from fear of being succeeded, or the embryonic lawyer's contempt of court?) Yet, regardless of this elucidation it may be asked: "Who are you anyway?" and answered: "Search me"!

Junior Pharmacy Class History

The history of the Junior Pharmacy Class, though brief, is yet strenuous, marked by the untiring effort of good men and true, who although they have not as yet been here long enough to manufacture a perfectly poised or well balanced pill, still they have accomplished many mighty deeds. They have beat the Seniors at basketball; have overcome such an appalling obstacle as a quiz in United States Pharmacopeia; and for the future have an outlook as fair and promising as ever beckoned to the youthful Alexander or led the illustrious Argonauts through the gauntlet of wobbling Naiads.

To illustrate, and lest the unsophisticated think us to be inspired without due cause we have only to point out several of our celebrities. First there is Logan, the mathematician. He is at present figuring out a new way to pass the State Board Examination. Next there is the Phosphorescent Hall, who blows with mysterious radiance and lights up the most unillumined depths with his incandescent splendor. Next consider "Abe" Martin, "Tootie" Wilcox, and Dr. Kemper. Though they toil not they spread prosperity over the whole campus. Shippey, "Tubby" Duncan, Sosebee, and Weaver are all unprecedented in their respective lines. They are all deep subjects and demand much deliberation. "Sugar" Smith, of poetical temperament, refuses to deal in anything so material as a recitation. He is entirely subjective and hath drunk the milk of paradise. Last of all comes that rare and radiant philosopher, "Duck" Swann, a spirit apart and like no other. He is still undecided whether he is a mere gosling or a rare cygnet (young swan), which some day will evolve into a superb creature, the center of attraction and the envy of all.

Wesleyan vs. Mercer

Greatest Gridiron Battle Ever Pulled off in The South.

With the opening of the 77th session of Mercer University the problem of proving football to be an essential activity in the life of Mercer students devolved upon our faculty. Our friends across College Street were found to be laboring under a similar dilemma, accordingly a joint session of the two faculties was proposed.

After much deliberation and mature counsel no decision could be reached, and Dr. Harrison rose to his feet like as unto the fourth wise man and offered a resolution, based on the maxim that "experience is a dear teacher," and proposed that each of the two bodies select a team from their number and contest this point by actual experience and in this way definitely determine for themselves just what there is or is not in football which would make it an undesirable sport. This resolution was received with acclamation, and he was hailed as the saviour of the situation. Two months' time was granted in which the two teams were to condition themselves and be prepared for the fray.

Uncle Scott was elected to captain Mercer's hosts, and immediately placed his husky warriors on a diet of sardines, assuming that fish was a good brain food. Dr. Jenkins, of Wesleyan, was elected captain of our sister college.

There was a heated discussion and a fierce argument between Bo Monk and Billy as to who should play quarter. Harrison contended that he could survey the field from a psychological viewpoint and take all knocks philosophically, while Billy assumed the principle that all this counts for naught on the football field and that since simple harmonic motion was the best principle on which to hinge a football team, and what it took to do the perpetual motion stunt he had it, so the quarterback's position rightfully belonged to his department. The contention for the different positions was hot and fierce, but as the day for the mighty battle drew near Captain Scott announced through Pink's columns the following line-up:

When the hour set for the battle finally arrived, the two teams trotted on the field apparently feeling their mettle and frisking around in signal practice amid the uproar from the mighty and tumultuous throng that had gathered on the field to witness this fierce struggle. After much wrangling and confusion as to who should begin the contest, Bobo remembered that one side had to kick off and Robins was then sought and brought on to the field. This worthy then demonstrated the correct positions to the respective opponents and after C. Jenkins had won the toss of the coin and elected to receive the kick off, the two teams drew in martial array, and Uncle Scott kicked off to Wesleyan’s five-yard line, and the grand and glorious battle for the supremacy of football was on. Captain J. returned the kick off 25 yards, and above the tumult and clamor of the rooters, Quarterback Smith’s stentorian tones could be heard like a clarion, pealing forth the signals of the fiercest and most bitter affray ever staged. "Formation J. minus" called Jenkins, and Wesleyan’s line prepared for a rapid shift to the right. "Gee" and the shift was consummated. "Git a mule" and Little Willie Garner hit the dust whilst the mighty Captain Burks drove through the line of defense for a ten-yard gain and the terrible onslaught of this rapacious demon continued until the oval was carried to Mercer’s five-yard line, where a fumble by Jenkins was recovered by Mercer’s stellar end, Forrester. On a skin tackle play Bo Monk "undootedly" opened up a whole world without end and Bo Louthan ploughed through for fifteen yards. Bob failed to gain around right end. Uncle Scott ploughed through for 6, 3 and 1 yards, respectively, for first down and on a tackle over tackle, Bo Monk slipped loose and went for 70 yards and a touchdown, but Steed was holding and the score was illegal, and the ball was brought back to Mercer’s fifteen-yard line. Here Dr. Forrester rose up in his wrath and insisted on two things, first that Billy call all signals in the same tone, and that second, since right was right, he should by all means be allowed to participate in the doings of this evil day and be allowed to advance the pigskin to a certain extent. He was given the ball on the next play on an end run and advanced forty yards where he was winged and brought to earth by the redoubtable captain of the Wesleyanites. Uncle Scott then bucked the line for a series of substantial gains, and insisted on repetition, repetition, repetition of these ground gaining formations. On the next three plays Mercer failed to gain and Uncle Scott then placed a beautiful drop kick from the thirty-five yard line square between the goal posts for three points and Mercer supporters went wild. The quarter ended here and "Devoted" Louie drove up in the newest addition to the college conveyances with refreshments from the Ocmulgee for the Mercer braves. Marguerite and Louie were kept busy until the end of the game. Score end of first quarter Mercer, 3; Wesleyan, 0.

The second quarter opened with a dash. Smith returned the kick off fifteen yards and after three unsuccessful attempts to make the requisite distance for first down, Captain Jenkins punted sixty yards to Billy who ran the punt back only five yards, when he was brought to a halt by the speed merchant Miss Lewis. Nothing of any special interest transpired in this period of the game except that Bobo Murray was put out of the game for inattention to duty in not paying strict attention to signals. Wesleyan called time out for refreshments and something in a bottle was served to the thirsty players. Time was called before play could be resumed.

SECOND HALF.

The game continued with first one side then the other having the enemy within the shadow of their goal throughout the third quarter.

The fourth quarter was sensational. Mercer rushed the ball to Wesleyan's one yard line, when Billy attempted to execute a play over Willie Garner for the additional one yard. Billy fumbled. Captain Jenkins recovered and dashed down the field for ninety-nine yards with Baldy hanging on to his belt and Struby around his neck, registering a touchdown for Wesleyan. Mrs. Burks kicked goal. Time up.

Score, Wesleyan, 7; Mercer, 3.

Broke, Broke, Broke

(Apologies to Tennyson.)

Broke, broke, broke,
All's gone for a college fee!
And I would that my tongue could utter
The thoughts that arise in me.

O well for the faculty men,
Who make new rules for play;
It's a dollar for this and a "ten" for that,
And "thunder" if I don't pay.

And the stately school goes on,
Thriving at my expense,
And an extra fee is added
If in sight there's "thirty cents."

Broke, broke, broke,
At the feet of the bursar I sit,
While with tender grace (?) he puts in my hand
A letter marked "Please Remit."

N. Vernon Hawthorne.
THE END
Mercer University
MACON, GEORGIA

Founded in 1832

One of the Most Noted Educational Institutions in the South
